2010 OUTLOOK / NOTES

The Maryland Terrapins hope the misfortune of last season which featured a number of heartbreaking losses and injuries to key players will help fuel a resurgence in 2010.

"We've got a lot of good kids who are tired of losing," said head coach Ralph Friedgen, who is entering his 10th season in College Park.

Last season was not the norm for the Terps. Friedgen, the fourth-winningest coach in school history, has taken Maryland to six bowls in his tenure, including three straight trips prior to last season.

Maryland hopes the return of a number of key performers from last season will help it battle for the ACC Atlantic Division crown and reach postseason play again.

The Terrapins return 52 letterwinners, including 12 offensive and defensive starters, all four special teams performers and eight players who have earned all-conference and/or All-America honors.

The Terps had just 14 seniors on last season's squad so a number of youngsters were thrust into action. In fact, 24 freshmen got on the field, including 10 true freshmen.

Even though the Terps have just 16 seniors on this season's roster, the experience earned by the younger players last season should pay dividends in 2010.

Junior wide receiver Torrey Smith and senior running back Da'Rel Scott headline the seven returning starters on offense under third-year coordinator and assistant head coach James Franklin.

Smith and Scott have a solid pedigree as All-ACC performers. Smith was a second-team choice as a receiver and return specialist last season, and Scott was a first teamer in 2008 when he rushed for 1,133 yards, the seventh-highest total in school history.

Smith did everything for the Terps last season, leading them in receptions (61), receiving yards (824), touchdown catches (5) and kick returns (51 for 1,309). He also returned a pair of kickoffs for touchdowns. Smith ranked sixth nationally in all-purpose yards (182.7 per game) and his season total of 2,192 ranks second in ACC history.

Senior wide receiver Adrian Cannon is also back, along with a host of talented backups. He had a breakout 2009 campaign, posting career highs in receptions (41), receiving yards (468) and TDs (4).

There are also three starters back along the line in Paul Pinegar, Andrew Gonnella and R.J. Dill. The versatile Pinegar will move to center to replace Phil Costa, who has moved onto the NFL.

Bennett Fulper and Justin Lewis also earned starts at offensive guard last season.

The offensive line, which gradually improved last season, will be a key to the Terps' success.

"We need to be more consistent in the running game and passing game," Friedgen said. "I thought our pass protection improved quite a bit in the spring."

The Terps will have to replace three-year starting quarterback Chris Turner, though they will do so with a more mobile signal-caller.

Junior Jamarr Robinson had a pair of starts in place of an injured Turner in 2009 and will enter the preseason atop the depth chart.

Robinson has demonstrated his elusiveness. He ended up being the third-leading ground gainer for the Terps last season.

He also did not throw an interception. The Terps were snakebit by turnovers last year and realize that's another key to success.

"The No. 1 thing we have to do is hold onto the ball," Friedgen said. "We can't turn it over like we did early last year."

Robinson's shiftiness or that of one of the other quarterbacks should assist the offensive line.

"We need to give up fewer sacks and with more mobility at quarterback that should help," Friedgen said.

As well as putting more points on the board, Friedgen is hoping for improvement from the defense under second-year coordinator Don Brown, who employs an attacking style.

"We need to eliminate big plays," Friedgen said. "That's what really hurt us last year. I'd like to see more turnovers and see us pursue the ball better. If we do the latter, we'll get more turnovers and give up fewer big plays."

A two-time All-ACC performer, senior linebacker Alex Wujciak headlines a defense which returns eight of its top 10 tacklers from last season. Wujciak tallied 131 tackles in 2009, ranking eighth nationally in that category (10.9 per game).

Adrian Moten, one of four team captains as a junior last season, has been a playmaker throughout his career. He led the team in tackles for loss (9.0) and sacks (6.0) last year.

Demetrius Hartsfield had a solid season as well, earning freshman All-ACC honors from his linebacker spot.

A.J. Francis, a 2009 freshman All-America choice, is the lone returning starter on the line, but nine other letterwinners are back up front.

Junior Cameron Chism, who took over for injured No. 1 cornerback Nolan Carroll in the third game last season, is the lone returning starter in the secondary.

However, Kenny Tate and Antwine Perez, who are slated to take over the two starting safety roles, have seen significant action the last two years. Both are hard-hitting, aggressive defenders.

Special teams should be a strength with all the top performers back.

Punter Travis Baltz was a 2008 first team All-ACC pick, place-kicker Nick Ferrara was a 2009 freshman All-American and Smith was one of the top kick returners in the country last season.

Tony Logan is back as the No. 1 punt returner as is long snapper Tim Downs.

The coaching staff, which remained intact for the second straight year, began grooming the roster in the spring and that process continues on Aug. 10 when preseason practice opens in preparation for the season opener against Navy (Sept. 6).

"The first game is important for us," Friedgen said. "The talent is here, we just need to gain some confidence."

Notes:

- The Terrapins return nearly 75 percent of the offensive and defensive two-deep from the end of 2009. There are 17 of 22 offensive players back and 15 of 22 defenders. In addition, all six special teams starters (KR, PR, PK, P, LS, H) are back in the fall.

- The Terps have 26 offensive and defensive players on the current roster who have started at least once in their career.

- Maryland played 24 freshmen (10 true/14 redshirts) last season, which was the most during Ralph Friedgen's first nine seasons. The Terps played 20 freshmen in both the 2001 and 2004 seasons.

- The 52 returning letterwinners are the second most in Friedgen's tenure. Entering 2003, Maryland had 55 letterwinners back from the previous year.

- Despite the large number of returning letterwinners this season, the preseason two-deep features just nine seniors on offense (4) and defense (5).

- Not only does the defense return eight of its top 10 tacklers from last year, but also three of its top four sack producers and its top two interception leaders. Alex Wujciak was the second-leading tackler in the ACC last season, Adrian Moten's team-high six sacks in 2009 rank third among returning players in the league and only five returning players in the ACC had more interceptions than Cameron Chism (4) last season.

- There are six bowl teams from last year which appear on the Terps' 2010 schedule: Navy (Texas Bowl), West Virginia (Konica Minolta Gator Bowl), Clemson (Gaylord Hotels Music City Bowl), Boston College (Emerald Bowl), Miami (Champs Sports Bowl), and Florida State (Konica Minolta Gator Bowl).

- Despite the 2-10 finish last year, Maryland was in nearly every game to the last possession. In seven of the losses, the Terps were within a touchdown in the fourth quarter. They lost four games by four points or less and the last two by a combined five points. In the loss to Florida State on Nov. 21, Maryland took the lead twice in the final quarter vs the Seminoles, only to lose on a touchdown with 32 seconds left.

- Maryland struggled in the turnover department overall in 2009, but improved during the latter half of the year. The Terps were tied for 97th in the nation in turnover margin (-0.55 per game), but were +7.0 over the last five games. The defense forced 10 turnovers in the last five games (also one on special teams vs. NC State) after inducing seven in the first seven contests.

• Alex Wujciak is averaging 10.6 tackles per game in his career, which ranks first nationally among active players. Wujciak is one of only two players in the nation (also Nick Bellore, CMU) to post 130 or more tackles each of the last two seasons.

• Torrey Smith has a school-record three career kickoff returns for touchdowns. T.J. Graham of NC State (2) is the only other active ACC player with more than one.

• Maryland has not had a punt blocked in the last 123 games (third game of the 1999 season), the longest streak in the nation.

• The Terps had 31 players active in the NFL at the end of the 2009 season. That mark ranked third among ACC schools, trailing just Miami and Florida State. Bruce Campbell (Oakland) and Nolan Carroll (Miami) were selected in the 2010 NFL Draft, while Phil Costa (Dallas), Travis Ivey (Miami), Cory Jackson (San Diego) and Terrell Skinner (Minnesota) signed free-agent deals. The Terps have had 22 players drafted during Ralph Friedgen's tenure as head coach. There have also been 51 players either drafted or signed as free agents over the last six seasons.

• Ralph Friedgen enters the season as the 19th-winningest coach (by percentage) in ACC history. He has a record of 66-46 (.589) in nine seasons.

• James Franklin was named the eventual successor to Friedgen in February, 2009. Franklin, 38, has spent the better part of this decade on the Maryland staff. He served as the wide receivers coach from 2000 to 2004, which spanned Friedgen's first four seasons. During that time, Franklin established himself as one of the nation's top recruiters. Rivals.com ranked Franklin as one of the nation's top 25 recruiters for two of those first four years and tapped him again last season.

• Don Brown is in his second year as defensive coordinator. Brown served as head coach of the University of Massachusetts-Amherst the previous five years which included a trip to the 2006 NCAA Football Championship Subdivision (FCS) title game. During his tenure, UMass maintained one of the top defensive units in the nation. The Minutemen finished among the top 20 in total defense in three of his five seasons (third in 2005; 20th in 2006; 14th in 2007).

Offense Quarterback

With the departure of three-year starter Chris Turner, the Maryland quarterback position will have a different look in 2010. While there will be less experience at the position, the Terps are armed with five talented and athletic signal-callers.

Junior Jamarr Robinson enters the preseason atop the depth chart after starting two of the final three games of 2009 and having a solid spring.

"The final four games of last year really helped Jamarr," Friedgen said. "I think he's playing at a much higher level now. His decisions were much improved. He has the ability to make a bad play into a good one."

Already in possession of a strong arm, Robinson showed his elusiveness in a pair of near upsets at the end of last season.

Subbing for an injured Turner, he rushed for 129 yards against Virginia Tech, the third-highest total by a quarterback in school history, and posted 271 yards of total offense in a last-second loss to Florida State.

"There were some positives with Chris getting hurt," Friedgen said. "It forced us to play Jamarr. I thought he got better each and every game. Now we have a quarterback who has some experience."

Robinson, who completed 46 of 85 passes (54.1 percent) for 459 yards in his brief time, also demonstrated the ability to keep the ball away from the opposing defense by not tossing an interception all season.

Quarterbacks

5	Danny O'Brien	QB	6-3	215	Fr.	RS
11	Jamarr Robinson	QB	6-0	195	Jr.	1V
14	Devin Burns	QB	6-2	185	Fr.	HS
16	C.J. Brown	QB	6-3	195	Fr.	RS
18	Tyler Smith	QB	6-3	195	Fr.	HS

Robinson is the only quarterback on the roster who has thrown a pass in a collegiate game, but that's not to say there isn't plenty of talent at the position.

"I feel good about our quarterback position for the future," Friedgen said. "The biggest thing right now is we have four freshmen - two redshirt freshmen and true freshmen - in the mix and then Jamarr, who's a redshirt junior. We should be stable there for quite a while."

Redshirt freshmen Danny O'Brien and C.J. Brown will also vie for time under center.

"I feel good about both of those guys," Friedgen said. "They just don't have the experience. Hopefully we can get them some snaps."

O'Brien served as either the No. 2 or 3 quarterback last season and possesses a strong arm with good mobility. He came out of spring practice No. 2 on the depth chart behind Robinson.

Brown, the more mobile of the two, ended the spring third on the depth chart, but he should challenge for time in the fall.

The two true freshmen quarterbacks are Devin Burns and Tyler Smith.

Offensive Starters Returning/Lost...

Starters Returning (7)

WR Torrey Smith Jr.-2V 6-1, 200

• Preseason All-ACC pick; Led Maryland with 61 receptions for 824 yards and five touchdowns as a sophomore; Broke his own single-season ACC record for kickoff return yards with 1,309; Second-team All-ACC as a receiver and specialist.

WR Adrian Cannon Sr.-3V 6-2, 204

• Started 10 games in 2009 and was second on the team in receptions (44), receiving yards (468) and TDs (4) as a junior; has played in 32 career games.

OL Paul Plinegar Sr.-3V 6-4, 290

• Most experienced returning offensive lineman, having played in 24 games with 12 starts; Showed great versatility, starting at three different positions (right tackle, left tackle, left guard).

OL Andrew Gonnella Jr.-1V 6-5, 305

• Played in 11 of 12 games last season, making eight starts; Can play either right or left guard.

OL R.J. Dill So.-1V 6-7, 300

• A strong offensive lineman that can play either tackle position, played in all 12 games as a freshman with eight starts, all at right tackle.

RB Da'Rel Scott Sr.-3V 5-11, 200

• Preseason All-ACC pick; A first-team All-ACC choice in 2008; Missed five games with a broken wrist last year; ranks 15th on the Maryland career rushing yards list (1,653).

TE Devonte Campbell So.-1V 6-2, 255

• Emerged as a starter late in the season; played in 10 games with four starts.

Starters Lost (4)

OL Phil Costa 3V 6-3, 300

• Two-year starter played guard until taking over at center as a senior, played in 40 games, including 30 starts.

OL Bruce Campbell 3V 6-7, 310

• One of the most physically gifted players on the team during his career; Played in 27 career games with 17 starts, all at left tackle.

QB Chris Turner 3V 6-4, 220

• A three-year starter, ranks second in career passing yards (6,543), total offense (6,385), completions (547) and pass attempts (918); Played in 34 games with 30 starts.

RB Cory Jackson 4V 6-1, 245

• A starter at fullback since the end of his freshman year; Played in 50 of a possible 51 games in his career; Honorable mention All-American as a senior.

Burns, a tall, mobile signal-caller from Columbus, Ga., enrolled in classes in January and took part in spring practice. He was impressive in limited duty.

Smith will join the team in August and comes with an impressive pedigree.

He was a three-year starter at Wilson Area High School in Easton, Pa., where he was a 2009 SuperPrep All-American. Smith ended his career second on both the all-time Pennsylvania high school passing yards (8,035) and touchdown passes (87) lists.

Running Back

Once again Maryland is deep at the running back position.

For the second-straight season, the Terps have just one senior in the running back corps.

Three-year starting fullback Cory Jackson is gone from last season's squad. He didn't gather many statistics in his four years in College Park, but he was a tremendous blocker and special teams player, as well as a team leader.

Da'Rel Scott, now in his final season, hopes to return to his All-ACC form of two years ago after an injury-plagued 2009 campaign.

Scott missed five games with a broken forearm and was only able to gain 405 rushing yards.

The year before, Scott posted 1,133 rushing yards, the seventh-highest total in school history.

Barring an injury, he should become the 10th back in school history to reach 2,000 career rushing yards early in the season.

Scott, more of a breakaway threat, is complemented for the third-straight year by Davin Meggett, a between the tackles runner.

Meggett is also hoping to regain his form of two seasons ago when he rushed for 457 yards, the most by a Terp true freshman back since LaMont Jordan (1997), and averaged 5.13 yards per carry.

Friedgen has seen even further development in each of his top two tailbacks.

"Da'Rel and Davin really improved this spring," Friedgen said. "Both have accelerated their game. I'm pleased with what Da'Rel is doing without the ball. I think our ball security was much improved over last year.

"Davin was doing a better job reading his keys. He had better acceleration and ran harder."

There is also depth behind the top two backs.

Redshirt freshman D.J. Adams is penciled in as the No. 3 tailback after an impressive spring which was capped off by 71 yards and two touchdowns in the annual Red-White game.

"I thought he did an excellent job in the goal-line and short-yardage situations," Friedgen said.

Sophomore Gary Douglas, an elusive runner, showed flashes last season and will also push for time.

"I think we have four good tailbacks," Friedgen said.

Running Backs

8	Davin Meggett	RB	5-9	215	Jr.	2V
10	D.J. Adams	RB	5-10	220	Fr.	RS
20	Gary Douglas	RB	6-1	205	So.	1V
23	Da'Rel Scott	RB	5-11	200	Sr.	3V
32	Haroon Brown	FB	5-11	260	Jr.	2V
36	Taylor Watson	FB	6-2	240	Jr.	2V
46	Rahsaan Moore	FB	6-2	240	Fr.	HS
47	Paul Lariviere	FB	6-1	250	Jr.	SQ
49	Louis Berman	FB	6-0	230	Jr.	SQ

With Jackson gone, there will be a new fullback opening holes for the tailbacks.

Taylor Watson, who has played a reserve role the last two seasons, was penciled in as the starter heading into spring practice, but the junior hurt his knee during the second workout and is out of action until early in the season.

However, an injury generally opens up an opportunity for someone else on the roster.

Haroon Brown, who redshirted last season after seeing time as a reserve his first two years, may have benefitted from the injury.

"Losing Taylor Watson hurt us in the spring, but Haroon came in and played the best football since he's been here," Friedgen said.

There should be a good battle for the starting spot when Watson returns from injury.

Louis Berman also had an opportunity to see increased time in the spring, moving to No. 2 on the depth chart. The former linebacker impressed the staff with his toughness.

"He could fill a role for us in short-yardage or goal-line," Friedgen said. "I wouldn't be surprised to see him play some this year."

Paul Lariviere, who has battled injuries the last two seasons, is another veteran fullback who gives the Terps depth.

True freshman Rahsaan Moore, a native of District Heights, Md., will join the team in the fall and could enter into the mix.

Wide Receiver

Another position of strength for the Terps is wide receiver. The top nine players on the depth chart are back from last season, including all-league pick Torrey Smith, who emerged as one of the top playmakers in the country a year ago, and Adrian Cannon, who had a breakout 2009.

"This is a strong point for us," Friedgen said.

Smith was one of the focal points of the offense last season from his X receiver spot and is likely to garner a bigger role and more attention from the opposition this year.

He led the team in receptions (61), receiving yards (824) and touchdown catches (5). His receptions total was fifth-best on the Maryland single-season list, while the receiving yards were sixth.

Smith's receiving and return prowess made him one of the top all-purpose performers in the nation.

He averaged 182.7 all-purpose yards per game which is the fifth-best single-season mark in ACC history.

Seeing his first significant career action, Cannon proved a reliable threat opposite Smith.

He was second on the team in receptions (44) and receiving yards (468), posting career highs in both categories.

Despite those numbers, he's likely to battle with Kevin Dorsey for time at the X receiver position.

Dorsey battled foot problems early in his career, but saw increased time last season and had a strong spring campaign.

"We would not hesitate to play either one of them," Friedgen said.

Veteran Emani Lee-Odai, who has played in 33 career games, could also be a factor at the position.

Wide Receivers

3	LaQuan Williams	WR	6-1	190	Sr.	2V
4	Ronnie Tyler	WR	5-9	185	Jr.	2V
7	Adrian Cannon	WR	6-2	204	Sr.	3V
12	Kevin Dorsey	WR	6-2	205	So.	1V
13	Kerry Boykins	WR	6-0	200	So.	1V
17	Quintin McCree	WR	6-1	190	Jr.	2V
42	Eric Powell	WR	6-0	200	So.	SQ
82	Torrey Smith	WR	6-1	200	Jr.	2V
83	Emani Lee-Odai	WR	6-2	200	Sr.	3V
84	Alex Fletcher	WR	5-10	175	Fr.	RS
87	Webb Dulin	WR	5-9	175	Jr.	SQ
88	Joey McQueeney	WR	5-10	195	Sr.	SQ

Smith will be backed up by Quintin McCree and Tony Logan.

McCree played in 11 games last season. He had just five catches, but has good speed and size.

Logan has seen most of his action on special teams, but has demonstrated the ability to make tacklers miss.

"We feel like we have three quality players there," Friedgen said.

Ronnie Tyler, LaQuan Williams and Kerry Boykins should battle for time at the slot receiver spot.

Tyler was the third-leading receiver a year ago, posting 28 receptions for 346 yards.

After suffering through an injury-plagued 2009, Williams played in all 12 games last season, recording 10 catches for 99 yards in a reserve role.

Boykins played in 10 games, but saw most of his time on special teams.

"We feel very strong about all three guys at that spot as well," Friedgen said.

The wide receiver position has a little bit of everything.

"All of these kids have played," Friedgen said. "We have experience, talent and speed."

But Friedgen is still hoping for improvement.

"We just need to make some more plays and be more consistent," Friedgen said.

There are also some talented players behind the top nine wideouts.

Webb Dulin, now in his fourth year in the program, has demonstrated toughness as one of the most athletic players on the team.

Eric Powell and Joey McQueeney are veteran receivers who give the Terps needed depth.

Offensive Line/Tight End

The Terps hope to benefit from last year's inexperience along the offensive line.

Graduation hit the line hard heading into last season as the Terps lost five of their top seven performers from 2008, including three All-ACC performers.

Despite losing two starters in Bruce Campbell and Phil Costa off last season's squad, Maryland should have a more experienced line this year.

Paul Pinegar, Andrew Gonnella and R.J. Dill are the returning starters and two others, Bennett Fulper and Justin Lewis, earned starts last season.

"We're much improved," Friedgen said. "The key is to stay healthy."

Last season Campbell and Fulper missed significant time and the line never had time to jell.

Pinegar is the most seasoned of the offensive linemen having played in 24 games. He has also been the most versatile performer upfront.

Pinegar started at left tackle, right tackle and left guard in 2009. He moved into the center position during the spring and did a capable job.

"He was a pleasant surprise," Friedgen said. "He played better than I thought he would at center."

John Dillon and Chris Rhodes are behind Pinegar on the depth chart. Sal Conaboy, a true freshman, will get a look at center as well.

Friedgen likes the situation at tackle.

R.J. Dill earned freshman All-ACC honors last season after starting eight games at right tackle.

Sophomore Justin Gilbert, who played in 11 games in 2009 as a reserve, opens the season as the No. 1 left tackle.

"Gilbert showed vast improvement in the spring, and so did Dill," Friedgen said.

Nick Klemm (left tackle) and Pete DeSouza (right tackle) will serve as the top backups. Both are big, physical players who redshirted last season.

Gonnella benefitted from his time last season. He started in eight of the 11 games he played in at right guard.

However, he seems to have found a home at left guard.

"Gonnella showed great improvement in the spring over last season," Friedgen said.

Pete White, another highly regarded redshirt freshman, will serve as Gonnella's backup.

There should be a battle at right guard with Fulper and Lewis.

Fulper played in the first seven games, including four starts (three at left guard/one at right guard), last season before a shoulder injury ended his true freshman campaign.

Lewis had a nagging shoulder injury, but still managed to start three of the final six games at right guard.

"Fulper and Lewis were not at full strength in the spring, though both played better as the spring went along," Friedgen said.

Friedgen is hoping for increased competition from the reserves.

"We really need to see improvement with our second team," Friedgen said.

With the exception of Fulper and Lewis, no member of the second unit has played a snap.

Friedgen would like the second teamers to ease their way on the field.

"An injury here or there and we'll be forced to play with them," Friedgen said. "I'd like to see those guys play about 10 plays a game so we can slowly get them ready."

There is some depth behind the first and second team.

Former defensive lineman Cody Blue will push for time at right tackle after redshirting last season.

Jon Simpson, another redshirt freshman, is penciled in as a reserve at left tackle.

The Terps could also get help upfront from some newcomers.

Max Garcia and Jake Wheeler are highly-regarded first-year players. Garcia will start out at right tackle, while Wheeler will step in at left tackle.

Maryland will also hope to get some more production from its tight-end position which features the Y (on line of scrimmage) and F (H-back) spots.

"We're fairly solid at tight end," Friedgen said. "We have a lot of options."

Devonte Campbell took over as the starting tight end at the end of last season. He's a strong, athletic player who saw action in 10 games last season, though he caught just five passes.

Campbell has played mostly the F tight-end position, though he actually saw time at fullback in the spring due to the injury to Taylor Watson.

Lansford Watson also played in 10 games last season, posting 10 receptions. He could have an expanded role this year.

Sophomore Matt Furstenberg will also battle for time at the F position.

Furstenberg played in 11 games, including one start, last season.

Dave Stinebaugh redshirted last season, but impressed the staff on the scout team. He was the 2007 Baltimore County Player of the Year.

Sophomore Ryan Schlothauer, who pushed his way up the depth chart last season, could also see time.

The wild card at tight end is senior Will Yeatman, a two-sport standout. Yeatman, who transferred from Notre Dame in 2009, spent the last two seasons with the Terrapin lacrosse team. He played on the Fighting Irish football team in 2006-07 and should add a physical presence at the position.

Defense

Defensive Line

Despite losing three starters along the defensive line, Maryland has a number of players back who saw time last season.

Travis Ivey, Jared Harrell and Deege Galt all started 12 games last season, but they have graduated.

However, the Terps have 10 players back who rotated at the four defensive line positions last season and eight of them have three years of eligibility left.

"We've got some depth and just one senior in the group," Friedgen said.

A.J. Francis, the lone returning starter, had an impressive 2009, playing in all 12 games en route to honorable mention freshman All-America honors. He is expected to start at nose tackle.

Junior Derek Drummond rotated at end with Harrell last season, while both Carl Russell, who missed the spring while recovering from shoulder surgery, and Zachariah Kerr played in all 12 games.

Drummond, Russell and Kerr should all see significant action this season.

One of the most impressive players on the team during the spring was Joe Vellano. He missed the first half of 2009 with a foot injury and never quite got back to full speed, but is now atop the depth chart at defensive tackle.

"Vellano had an exceptional spring," Friedgen said. "If we had a most valuable player award, he probably would have gotten it."

Kerr, Ian Davidson, De'Onte Arnett and Maurice Hampton are among those who will serve as reserves at the nose tackle and defensive tackle positions.

Davidson played sparingly last season, while Arnett redshirted.

Defensive Starters Returning/Lost...

Starters Returning (5)

DL A.J. Francis So.-1V 6-4, 295

- Started at nose tackle in 10 of 12 games in 2009, making 30 tackles and earning freshman All-America honors.

LB Demetrius Hartsfield So.-1V 6-2, 235

- Played in 10 games, including seven starts, last season; Ranked fifth on the team with 64 tackles despite missing two games with a broken wrist.

LB Alex Wujciak Sr.-2V 6-3, 245

- Preseason All-ACC pick; A 2009 first-team All-ACC pick that led the team and ranked second in the ACC with 131 tackles; Set the Maryland single-season record for interception return yards last season.

LB Adrian Moten Sr.-3V 6-2, 230

- Started all 13 games last season and ranked second on the team with 68 stops; 13.0 career sacks and 18.0 TFLs are tops on the team.

CB Cameron Chism Jr.-2V 5-10, 190

- Played in all 12 games, including 10 starts, in 2009; led the team with four interceptions and ranked fourth with 66 tackles.

Starters Lost (6)

DL Travis Ivey 3V 6-4, 325

- Saw action in 32 career games with 16 starts; Tied for second in the ACC in fumble recoveries (0.25 pg); Played in the 2010 Texas vs. the Nation game.

DL Jared Harrell 2V 6-5, 265

- Played in 29 career games, including starts in all 12 games in 2009; Had 28 tackles on the season.

DL Deege Galt 1V 6-4, 264

- Started all 12 games at anchor in 2009; Ranked second on the team in sacks (4.5), the most by a Terps defensive lineman since Dre Moore (6.0 in 2007)

CB Anthony Wiseman 4V 5-10, 185

- A two-year starter that played in all 38 games over his final three seasons; made 19 PBUs over his final two seasons, which tied for the most in the ACC over that span.

SS Jamari McCollough 2V 5-11, 200

- Played in 26 career games and made five interceptions, emerging as one of the top defensive players as a senior.

FS Terrell Skinner 4V 6-3, 214

- Saw action in 36 of 38 games over his final three seasons; Had 23 career starts at FS; Played in the 2010 Senior Bowl.

Drew Gloster, now a senior, was impressive during the spring, his first time seeing action at defensive end. He has played mostly on special teams in his career, but the former tight end and linebacker may have found a home.

"We're looking for speed at the defensive end position," Friedgen said.

That was one of the reasons the staff shifted former linebackers Bradley Johnson and Marcus Whitfield to end in the off-season. Both were impressive on the scout team last season as true freshmen.

Those two, along with Gloster and Drummond, will try to provide an athletic presence at that position.

Sophomores Justin Anderson and Isaiah Ross will man the anchor, a strongside defensive end position.

Both were impressive last season. Anderson played tackle, but was bumped outside in the off-season after playing in the final six games of 2009.

Ross played in eight of the first nine games as a reserve before suffering a season-ending knee injury at NC State (11/7). He missed the spring, but is expected back at full speed in the fall.

Russell and sophomore Masengo Kabongo could also see time at anchor.

The Terps will also welcome four newcomers to the defensive line in Ian Evans, Andre Monroe, Darius Kilgo and Clarence Murphy.

Kilgo and Monroe are penciled in for duty inside, while Evans and Murphy are likely to be reserves at end and anchor.

Junior Herbert Law is also a reserve at end, while freshman Alex Walker, who joined the team in the spring, adds depth inside.

Linebacker

The linebackers, a unit which was mostly inexperienced going into last season, should be the strength of the defense in 2010.

All three starters - Alex Wujciak, Adrian Moten and Demetrius Hartsfield - are back, as are the top backups.

"The strength of our defense is not only the quality of linebackers, but the depth at that position," Friedgen said. "Avery Murray, Darin Drakeford and Ryan Donohue all played last year as true freshmen, plus we have some new guys who arrived in the spring. They'll also help us on special teams because we have some big guys who can run."

Senior Alex Wujciak is one of the team leaders. He started the last two seasons at middle linebacker and has been an all-league performer twice.

Wujciak is considered one of the top defenders in the nation. He's a consensus preseason first team all-conference pick and is on the watch lists for the Nagurski Trophy, Lombardi Award and Lott Trophy.

Moten has been a playmaker from his Sam linebacker position throughout his career. The lone non-senior captain last season, Moten has 13 career sacks and 18 tackles for loss, which are both tops on the squad.

Moten should be in line for postseason honors after starting all 12 games last season and ranking second on the team in tackles (68).

53	Lorne Goree	LB	6-1	210	Fr.	HS
59	David Mackall	LB	6-3	245	Fr.	HS

One of the rising stars on defense is Hartsfield, a freshman All-ACC pick last season.

"He may have had the best spring of any of the linebackers," Friedgen said.

Hartsfield was fifth on the team in tackles (64) last season despite missing two games and being hampered in three others with a broken wrist.

Murray (Mike), Pooler (Will) and Drakeford (Sam) serve as the primary backups, but each can play multiple positions.

Pooler started for Hartsfield and ended up with 43 tackles on the season, including 6.5 tackles for loss, which was tied for third on the team. Murray and Drakeford both played as true freshmen last season so the Terps have plenty of options.

"Ideally we'd like to get our fourth linebacker adept at more than one position so we can move people around," Friedgen said.

Another player who impressed in the spring was David Mackall. The true freshman enrolled in classes in January.

He showed explosiveness and an ability to find the ball carrier.

"We think he's a player we need to find a spot for and get him in the game," Friedgen said.

Lorne Goree is another true freshman who enrolled in January. He's penciled in as a reserve at Will linebacker.

The Terps also have a solid group behind the top three teams.

Juniors Steffan Lazerow and Nick Peterson have demonstrated ability on the scout team and during spring practice.

Secondary

Maryland will have to replace three of its four starters in the secondary with the departure of Anthony Wiseman, Terrell Skinner and Jamari McCollough, but it does have a number of reserves with playing time.

The Terps also lost Nolan Carroll, the team's No. 1 cornerback last season, who missed all but two games with a broken leg.

However, that injury allowed for the emergence of Cameron Chism, the lone returning starter in the secondary.

After playing sparingly as a true freshman in 2008, Chism got some valuable playing time with Carroll's injury and responded with a team-high four interceptions and 66 tackles (fourth on the team).

"He had a real good spring," Friedgen said of Chism. "I see him maturing. He's playing with a lot more confidence. Last year really helped him out."

Trenton Hughes and Dexter McDougale were battling for the other starting cornerback spot in the spring and that looks like it will continue into the preseason.

Hughes played in all 12 games last season, but most of his action was on special teams.

McDougale nearly played as a true freshman, but held onto his redshirt.

Michael Carter and Avery Graham are also expected to battle for time at cornerback.

"We think McDougale and Graham are going to be two good corners, but they're just redshirt freshmen and don't have the experience," Friedgen said.

Carter has seen some time in his career and emerged as a player who could see time in the fall.

The Terps will also take a look at some incoming freshmen in the preseason.

Jeremiah Wilson, Mario Rowson and Jeremiah Johnson are all highly regarded and could be in the mix for playing time at cornerback.

Junior Kenny Tate and senior Antwine Perez will open the preseason as the No. 1 safeties.

Tate and Perez are experienced performers who combined to start five games last season. Both are good tacklers and have been significant contributors the last two seasons.

Eric Franklin also saw time at safety in 2009 as a true freshman.

"He's a smart guy who needs to get a little stronger," Friedgen said. "But he played last year and did a good job."

Redshirt freshman Travis Hawkins, who moved from cornerback in the off-season, is the primary backup at strong safety. He's slightly undersized, but is the fastest safety on the roster and a solid tackler.

47	Mario Rowson	CB	6-3	185	Fr.	HS
48	Eric Franklin	S	6-2	205	So.	1V

Junior Austin Walker, who has been mostly a special teams contributor in his career, is also a backup at free safety.

A number of Maryland's recruiting class could figure into the mix at safety including Titus Till, Desmond Kearse and Matt Robinson.

Anthony Green and Mike Salvatico give the Terps some needed depth at safety.

Special Teams

The Terps have a full complement of special teams performers back from last season, including three who have earned postseason accolades.

"We should be better on special teams," Friedgen said. "We have kickers, returners and snappers back, plus we have a lot of linebacker types who can run."

Junior Torrey Smith demonstrated he was one of the top kickoff return men in the nation last season by snapping the ACC single-season return yards mark and returning two for touchdowns.

Smith holds the Maryland career kickoff return yards record and is third in league history. He earned second team All-ACC honors as a returner last season.

Maryland also has one of the best kicking tandems in the league.

Senior Travis Baltz was a first team All-ACC punter in 2008 before suffering through an injury-plagued 2009. Baltz, one of nine punters on the preseason watch list for the 2009 Ray Guy Award, should again vie for postseason honors.

His career average of 40.9 yards per punt ranks fifth in school history.

He's complemented by sophomore Nick Ferrara, who filled a vital role last season.

Ferrara earned freshman All-America honors at place-kicker after ranking fourth in the ACC in field goals made (1.50 per game).

But he also subbed for Baltz during his five-game injury absence and averaged 39.8 yards per punt.

Ferrara hit on 72 percent of his field goals last season, a mark that ranks seventh on the Maryland career list.

Ferrara will be backed up by Baltz, who has not attempted a field goal while at Maryland, but served as the No. 2 place-kicker in 2007.

Senior Ted Townsley is the No. 2 punter on the depth chart. Townsley saw his first-career action last season. Ferrara could also see action as the punter again this season.

84	Greg Parcher	LS	6-3	185	Fr.	RS
92	Tim Downs	LS	6-0	230	Jr.	1V

Tim Downs was steady in his first season as the long snapper, keeping his name off the stat sheet. He helped continue Maryland's streak of 123 games without a punt being blocked, the longest streak in the country.

Greg Parcher, who redshirted last season, enters the fall as Downs' backup.

Junior Tony Logan will get first crack as the No. 1 punt returner.

The shifty Logan was injured early last season, so the punt return unit took a while to get going. He did set up the winning score against Clemson with a 43-yard return.

Dexter McDougale and Kenny Tate also returned punts during spring practice.

Despite the success last season, Friedgen is hoping for improvement in all phases of special teams.

"Torrey had a couple of big returns, but we weren't as consistent as we wanted to be," Friedgen said. "We'll try to do a better job at blocking so our returners can get going. We can make the first guy miss but we need to have the other guys covered."

Starters Returning (5)

P Travis Baltz Sr.-3V 6-3, 210
• Preseason All-ACC pick; Three-year starter; 2008 first-team All-ACC selection; Ranks fifth in school history in punting average (40.9 ypp).

KR Torrey Smith Jr.-2V 6-1, 200
• Preseason All-ACC choice; 2009 second team All-ACC as KR; Snapped Terps kickoff return yardage record last two seasons.

PK Nick Ferrara So.-1V 6-0, 200
• Earned 2009 freshman All-America honors; Went 7-for-10 from 40 or more yards last season; Also stepped in as punter due to Baltz's injury.

PR Tony Logan Jr.-2V 5-10, 180
• Returned 15 punts last season, including a 43-yarder; Has the ability to make people miss.

LS Tim Downs Jr.-1V 6-0, 230
• Did not have punt blocked in his first season as starter; Terps have not had one blocked in last 123 games.

Newcomer Profiles

Maryland signed 19 student-athletes to national letters-of-intent for the 2010 football season.

Friedgen and the staff replenished the Terps depth in a number of areas. There was an emphasis on defense with the class including four linemen, three linebackers and five defensive backs.

Among the eight offensive signees, four were linemen.

The Terps received high marks nationally at quarterback, linebacker, defensive back and offensive line. The linebackers and defensive ends were each ranked No. 13 in the country by Rivals.com. The offensive line was tied for No. 23 in the nation by Rivals.com and Maryland's quarterback class, while small in number (two), was ranked No. 9 in the country by Scout.com. Overall the class was ranked No. 34 in the nation by Rivals.com.

Four of the signees - OL Nate Clarke (Washington, D.C.), LB Javarie Johnson, QB Tyler Smith (Easton, Pa.) and DB Titus Till (Upper Marlboro, Md.) - were also labeled four-star recruits by Rivals.com and/or Scout.com.

LB David Mackall (Baltimore) was also a four-star recruit, though he signed with the Terps last season and attended Fork Union Military Academy in the fall. He was joined at Fork Union by another Terps signee from 2009, LB Lorne Goree (Springdale, Md.). Mackall and Goree both enrolled in the spring and took part in spring practice.

QB Devin Burns (Columbus, Ga.) also enrolled in classes in January.

"I'm really pleased with this class," Friedgen said. "I think our staff did a heck of a job throughout the whole process. We really filled needs in key areas, but also improved our overall speed and athleticism."

The recruiting class has a number of high ranking individuals at their respective position. Nearly every recruit ranked among top 100 players at his position nationally, including Clarke, OL Sal Conaboy (Clarks Summit, Pa.), LB Ian Evans (Atco, N.J.), Johnson, RB Rahsaan Moore (District Heights, Md.) and Smith.

Conaboy was ranked 10th nationally among offensive guards by Scout.com, Evans was No. 36 among outside linebackers and Moore was the No. 16 fullback by according to Scout.com. Smith was rated as the eighth-best QB recruit in the nation by Scouts, Inc.

Once again the Terps kept quite a bit of talent at home as 10 members of the class hail from the Maryland/Washington, D.C. footprint, and two more - DB Mario Rowson (Norfolk) and DB Jeremiah Wilson (Winchester) reside in Virginia.

The Terps also plucked three players from Florida and two from Georgia, including standout offensive lineman Max Garcia (Norcross), a high school teammate of Terp RB D.J. Adams.

Maryland also hauled in one of the top quarterbacks in the state of Pennsylvania for the second straight year in Smith. C.J. Brown served a redshirt season in 2009, but was one of top dual-threat quarterbacks in the country as a high school senior.

There were also 12 players who earned all-state distinction, including Burns, Conaboy, Evans, Garcia, Goree, DB Jeremiah Johnson (Forestville, Md.), Mackall, Moore, Matt Robinson (Columbia, Md.), Rowson, Smith and Till.

Moore and Till were teammates at Wise High School in Upper Marlboro.

In all, the 19 signees hail from seven states, including Maryland/Washington D.C. (10), Florida (3), Virginia (2), Georgia (2), Pennsylvania (2), North Carolina (1) and New Jersey (1). The addition of Goree and Mackall push the Maryland/D.C. number to 12.

RALPH FRIEDGEN

Head Coach

Maryland '70 • 10th Year at Maryland

Ralph Friedgen is in his 10th year as head coach at the University of Maryland with a reputation as one of the top offensive minds in college football.

Friedgen has lifted the Terrapins to unprecedented heights in his tenure, taking the team to six bowl games, including a pair of New Year's Day appearances, and a school record four bowl victories. Prior to Friedgen's arrival, Maryland had just one bowl game appearance in the previous 15 seasons.

There has also been extraordinary fan support in his tenure, with the top four average single-season home attendance marks occurring in the last nine years. In addition, 20 of the top 25 crowds in the history of Capital One Field at Byrd Stadium have taken place since 2001.

He is the 33rd head coach in school history and ranks fourth in Maryland annals in career winning percentage (.589). Friedgen also has the 19th-best winning percentage in Atlantic Coast Conference history.

After spending two years as head coach and offensive coordinator, Friedgen relinquished that difficult dual role after the 2007 season with the hiring of James Franklin.

Friedgen has been able to refocus on being the CEO of the football program.

He will draw on his nearly 40 years of collegiate coaching experience to rebound from an uncharacteristic losing season.

The 2009 season began with promise, but injuries forced 24 freshmen into action, many at key positions, and that inexperience led to five losses by four points or less.

However, last season was out of character for a Friedgen led Maryland team.

The Terps were in the hunt for the ACC title in two of the previous three seasons.

In 2008, the Terrapins finished 8-5, marking the fifth time in the previous eight years Maryland reached the eight-win plateau, and came within a game of reaching the ACC title game. The Terps also collected their fourth bowl win under Friedgen with a 42-35 triumph over Nevada in the Roedy's Humanitarian Bowl.

The 2008 team was at its best playing against the top competition, winning four of five games versus Top 25 teams (Associated Press poll).

Maryland was one of just five teams in the country to defeat at least four ranked teams in 2008. The other four programs (Florida, USC, Oklahoma and Texas) all ended the year ranked in the Top 5 of the final AP poll.

In 2006, his first season as offensive coordinator since becoming head coach, Friedgen directed the team to a 9-4 record, marking the fourth nine-win campaign in the previous six seasons and 13th in school history. The Terps culminated the 2006 season with a convincing 24-7 victory over Purdue in the Champs Sports Bowl.

Friedgen led the team to another bowl appearance in 2007 despite having to persevere through numerous injuries as only three offensive players started all 13 games. In all there were 17 members of the two-deep which missed at least one game.

In spite of the injuries, Friedgen had the Terps at their best against the toughest competition as Maryland defeated a pair of top 10 teams in 2007. In 115 years of football, the Terps had never defeated two Top 10 teams in the same season.

The wins over No. 10 Rutgers and No. 8 Boston College put the Terps among elite company nationally as well. Maryland was one of only four teams in the country (also LSU, Kentucky and Illinois) to defeat two Top 10 teams during the 2007 campaign.

The 2006 team started 3-2 before reeling off a five-game winning streak, which placed them in the midst of the ACC Atlantic Division race. The Terps lost to eventual champion Wake Forest in the final game of the regular season, however Maryland was a force in the league race throughout the year, enabling it to earn the fourth slot among ACC postseason bids and a trip to Orlando, Fla., for the Champs Sports Bowl.

A long-time successful assistant coach at Georgia Tech, where he was credited with overseeing one of the nation's most potent offensive attacks, Friedgen continues to build a new level of pride and glory to his alma mater's football program, guiding the Terps to a 66-46 record, including an ACC title and a pair of second-place finishes.

Not only were his 50 wins after six seasons more than those of Terps legend Jerry Claiborne, they also fell just shy of the all-time ACC mark of 51, set by Clemson's Danny Ford in the early 1980s. In addition, in his first three seasons at the helm of the Terrapin program, Friedgen became the first coach in conference lore to lead a team to three-straight seasons of 10 wins or more. His 36 wins in his first four years ranked him in the top 10 in NCAA history, surpassing the fourth-year marks of coaches such as Frank Leahy and Joe Paterno.

The consensus national coach of the year in 2001 after leading Maryland to its first ACC Championship since 1985, Friedgen and company have returned Maryland to prominence on the national scene. The Terrapins have won more games (66) in the nine seasons under Friedgen than they had in the 15 years prior to his arrival (60).

Long overlooked as a head-coaching candidate, the 1970 Maryland graduate was tapped as the Terps' top man following the 2000 season, and he wasted no time in returning the program to the glory days it achieved when Friedgen was an assistant to Bobby Ross in the 1980s.

Nine years ago, in his first season as the Terps' grid boss, Maryland won its first seven games and eventually halted Florida State's reign as perennial ACC champion, earning the league's automatic berth in the Bowl Championship Series' FedEx Orange Bowl. By winning the ACC title that season, Friedgen became the first mentor in league history to win the championship in his first year as a head coach.

In 2002, despite a 1-2 start and without 19 seniors from the previous year, the Terps made their way back to a major bowl game, winning 10 of their last 11 games and finishing tied for second in the ACC. The 2003 campaign provided a bit of déjà vu for Friedgen and the Terrapins as they again started 1-2, and once more ran off 10 wins in their final 11 games to earn a second New Year's Day bowl bid in three years.

By winning 11 games in 2002, Friedgen became just the second coach in school history to hit that mark, matching Claiborne's 11-win campaign in 1976.

Friedgen's teams have had some impressive performances in their most recent five bowl appearances. The Terps posted lopsided victories over Tennessee (30-3) in the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl and over West Virginia (41-7) in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl. In all, Maryland has out-scored its last five bowl opponents, 151-73.

His offensive success notwithstanding, Friedgen's teams at Maryland have been solid on defense, ranking among the nation's leaders annually while producing the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year in three of the last nine seasons (E.J. Henderson in 2001 and 2002; D'Qwell Jackson in 2005).

Named the winner of the Frank Broyles Award as the top assistant coach in the country in 1999 while at Tech, Friedgen brought 32 years of assistant coaching experience (including 21 as an offensive coordinator either in college or the NFL) with him in his return to College Park.

The 63-year-old Friedgen (pronounced FREE-jun) owns the rare distinction of coordinating the offense for both a collegiate national champion (Georgia Tech in 1990) and a Super Bowl team (San Diego in 1994).

Friedgen spent 20 seasons with the aforementioned Ross in coaching stops at The Citadel, Maryland, Georgia Tech and the NFL's San Diego Chargers. He returned to Tech in 1997, where he served another successful stint as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach under good friend George O'Leary, now the head coach at the University of Central Florida.

A 1970 graduate of Maryland, where he earned a degree in physical education, Friedgen launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant before heading off to a series of jobs that included The Citadel (1973-79), William & Mary (1980) and Murray State (1981).

In 1982, he returned to Maryland as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach under Ross, with Friedgen's tenure lasting until 1986. During that stretch, the Terps captured three consecutive ACC championships (1983-85) and played in four bowl games. All told, the Terrapins were 39-15-1 from 1982-86 and won two bowl games (the Sun Bowl in 1984 and the Cherry Bowl in 1985). It is that type of success Friedgen has reinstalled in his current group of Terrapins.

The Ross-Friedgen connection began in 1973, when Ross hired the former Maryland offensive guard as defensive line coach at The Citadel. Friedgen spent seven seasons at The Citadel, the last three as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. He then worked one season (1980) as offensive coordinator at William & Mary and one season (1981) as assistant head coach at Murray State before Ross tapped him to be his offensive coordinator at Maryland in 1982.

During his five-year stay at Maryland under Ross, Friedgen was instrumental in the development of future pro quarterbacks Boomer Esiason, Frank Reich and Stan Gelbaugh, all of whom spent at least 10 seasons in the National Football League. Esiason played professionally from 1984-97, Reich from 1985-98 and Gelbaugh from 1986-95.

Friedgen followed Ross to Georgia Tech in 1987, becoming the Yellow Jackets' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the next five seasons, including the 1990 campaign when Tech, unranked in the preseason, captured the National Championship with an 11-0-1 record. The national title came just two years after the Jackets had posted back-to-back seasons of three wins or less.

When Ross was named head coach of the San Diego Chargers in 1992, he tapped Friedgen to serve as running game coordinator for two seasons (1992-93) before elevating him to offensive coordinator in 1994, when the Chargers advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time in franchise history. During his time with the Chargers, Friedgen helped a club that had not made the playoffs in a decade reach postseason play three times in five seasons.

Known for developing balanced offensive attacks with multiple looks, Tech was one of only two teams in the country in 1999 to average at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing. Tech also accomplished the feat under Friedgen's guidance in 1990, '91 and '98. The 1999 team, with Joe Hamilton at quarterback, set 59 school records, rewriting many marks established by the 1990 national championship team, which was led by another Friedgen pupil, Shawn Jones (1989-92). Friedgen was a finalist for the Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach in 1998 when the Ramblin' Wreck set a then-school record with 50 touchdowns.

The first Maryland alum since Bob Ward (1967-68) to serve as the Terps' head football coach, Friedgen originally came to Maryland as a quarterback in the mid-'60s and spent most of his career as an offensive lineman, lettering in 1966 and '68 and capturing Academic All-ACC honors. He was a two-time winner of the George C. Cook Memorial Award (1968-69) for having the highest academic average on the football team.

Friedgen's coaching roots run deep. His father, also named Ralph (though not a "Sr."), was a high school coach for more than 30 years and masterminded, among other teams, the 1964 Westchester County (N.Y.) High School team that went undefeated and averaged 44 points per game running what was then an unusual multiple offense. It was an offense run by a 190-pound quarterback later recruited by Maryland who shared his name. Maybe as a sign of things to come, the younger Ralph called all of his team's offensive plays from his junior year on.

Friedgen and his wife, the former Gloria Spina, have three daughters: Kelley, Kristina and Katie. Gloria is the Coordinator of Alumni Affairs and Outreach for the School of Public Health at Maryland while both serve on that school's Board of Visitors. Kelley is in her third year as an in-house attorney at Merck and Co.; Kristina graduated from Maryland in 2008 after majoring in theater (she is also a certified massage therapist); and Katie completed her undergraduate studies in the honors art program in May, 2010.

Friedgen was honored for his dedication to his family in June of 2007 when he was named father of the year by the Washington D.C. Father's Day Council.

TERP HIGHLIGHTS UNDER FRIEDGEN

- Friedgen has a 66-46 record in nine years, including the first back-to-back-to-back 10-win seasons in school history (10-2 in 2001, 11-3 in 2002 and 10-3 in 2003).
- The consensus national coach of the year in 2001 when he led Maryland to its first ACC title in 16 years, Friedgen has guided the Terrapins to six bowl game appearances, including a school-record four postseason wins.
- Friedgen's 66 wins are more than the Terps had (60) in the 15 years prior to his arrival. The victory total ranks fourth in school history and his winning percentage (.589) is 19th all-time in ACC annals among coaches with at least three years on the job.
- Four of the school's 13 nine-win seasons have come in Friedgen's nine years as head coach.
- Maryland was among the best in 2008 playing ranked opponents. The Terps went 4-1 vs. ranked foes (AP poll) with wins vs. No. 23 Cal, No. 20 Clemson, No. 21 Wake Forest and No. 17 UNC. The Terps were one of only five teams in the nation (also Florida, Oklahoma, USC and Texas) to beat at least four top 25 teams. The other four all finished in the top five of the final polls.
- During 2007, the Terps defeated two top 10 teams (No. 10 Rutgers, No. 8 Boston College). The Terps had never beaten two Top 10 teams in the same season. They were also one of only four teams in the nation (LSU, Kentucky and Illinois) to accomplish that feat in 2007.
- The Terps posted a school-record three-straight bowl wins (2003, 04, 06), culminating with a 24-7 triumph over Purdue in the 2006 Champs Sports Bowl. The Terps have out-scored their last five bowl foes by a 151-83 margin.
- Maryland posted a school record-tying 11-victory season in 2002, when the Terps won 10 of their last 11 games. Only the 1976 team won as many games.
- Maryland was joined by only four other Division I-A schools - Miami (Fla.), Oklahoma, Texas and Washington State - to have won as many as 10 games in the 2001, 2002 and 2003 seasons.
- A Top 20 final ranking in both major national polls for three straight years (2001-03). Maryland ended 2003 ranked 17th in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches' poll and 20th by the Associated Press. In 2002, the Terps were ranked 13th in both polls, and in 2001 the team finished 10th in the ESPN/USA Today poll and 11th in the AP. It was the program's best three-year final rankings since 1974-76 (when the Terps finished 13th, 13th and eighth).
- After seven years as the Terps' head coach, Friedgen ranked the third-most successful seventh-year coach in ACC history, with his 56-31 mark eclipsing those of league mentors Dick Sheridan, Tommy Bowden, Bill Dooley and Mack Brown.
- He is the second-most successful sixth-year coach in ACC history, with his 50-24 mark (through the end of 2006) eclipsing those of such former league mentors as Bobby Ross and Lou Holtz. Friedgen is currently 19th among all active coaches for Football Bowl Division (formerly Division I-A) victories.
- In his first four years, Friedgen set the ACC record for wins (36) by a fourth-year head coach. He tied for second in the ACC in wins by a fifth-year coach.
- Bowl appearances in six of his nine seasons, including dominating wins in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl (41-7 over West Virginia) and a 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory over perennial national power Tennessee (a team ranked fifth in the two major preseason polls). The Terrapins also earned a BCS Orange Bowl berth during the 2001 campaign.
- Friedgen led the Terps to the 2001 ACC title when the Terps became the first team other than Florida State to win an outright league title since the Seminoles joined the conference.
- By winning the 2001 ACC title, Friedgen became the first mentor in conference history to win the championship in his first year as a head coach. He also tied the mark of 10-2 set by Ken Hatfield (Clemson) in 1990, the best record ever by an ACC coach in his first season.
- 41 wins in 58 games at Capital One Field at Byrd Stadium, where the Terps averaged a school-record 52,426 fans in 2005 and 51,263 in 2007.
- Three of the last nine ACC Defensive Players of the Year.
- 52 national television appearances, including a school-record eight showings in 2002. The Terrapins played on national television or ABC regional six times in 2005, 2006 and 2007, eight times in 2008, and once in 2009.
- The program's first major national award winner since 1974 in linebacker E.J. Henderson, a two-time consensus first team All-American who was named the winner of the Dick Butkus Award (nation's outstanding linebacker) and the Chuck Bednarik Trophy (nation's outstanding defensive player) in 2002.
- Back-to-back school records in number of first team All-ACC performers in 2001 (7) and 2002 (8), and an ACC-best 13 overall all-league honors in 2001 and nine in 2008.
- A league-best 14 representatives on the Academic All-ACC teams during a two-year span (eight in 2008; six in 2007).
- 33 weeks in at least one of the country's two major Top 25 polls, including a streak of seven consecutive weeks at the start of the 2004 season.
- The only consensus national coach of the year award (2001) in Maryland football history. He was one of 20 coaches around the nation on the watch list for the 2008 Paul 'Bear' Bryant Coach of the Year Award.
- 21 of the top 28 all-time largest crowds at Capital One Field at Byrd Stadium have come during the last nine seasons.
- Back-to-back school scoring records (2001 and 2002) and a two-year team scoring average of more than 33 points per game in those seasons.
- A NCAA-low four passing touchdowns allowed in 2005. The defense also had four straight seasons (2001-2004) in which it allowed 20 points or less a contest.
- In his nine seasons, the Terps have earned 44 Academic All-ACC honors and 19 All-America accolades, including two first-teamers (Vernon Davis and D'Qwell Jackson) in 2005.

James Franklin

Assistant Head Coach/Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks
East Stroudsburg '95 • Eighth Year at Maryland

One of the nation's top young coaches, James Franklin is in his third season as Maryland's assistant head coach and offensive coordinator. He is also in charge of tutoring the Maryland quarterbacks.

He is in his eighth season overall with the program, having served as an assistant from 2000 through 2004.

A tireless and renowned recruiter with a creative offensive mind, Franklin is also in line to be the next Terps head coach. He was named the eventual successor to Ralph Friedgen in February, 2009.

In 2008, Franklin, who has also served as an NFL assistant, led an offense which helped the Terps reach a bowl game for the sixth time in eight seasons and knock off four ranked teams.

Maryland had a league-best six offensive players earn All-ACC honors in 2008 including first-teamer Da'Rel Scott who rushed for 1,133 yards. Scott became just the seventh player in school history to eclipse the 1,000-yard barrier.

Quarterback Chris Turner had his second-straight solid season, throwing for 2,516 yards, the fifth-highest single-season total in school history.

Turner continued to come up big under Franklin's tutelage. He directed three fourth-quarter game-winning drives in 2008 and improved to 5-1 as a starter vs. Top 25 teams.

Last season, Franklin began to groom Jamarr Robinson, who subbed for an injured Turner over the last four games.

Robinson, along with redshirt freshmen Danny O'Brien and C.J. Brown, and true freshmen Devin Burns and Tyler Smith form one of the deepest and most versatile quarterback units in College Park in many years.

Franklin is also adept at prepping players for the next level.

He had two of his former pupils taken in the first round of the 2009 NFL Draft as Darrius Heyward-Bey was selected seventh overall by the Oakland Raiders and Josh Freeman was chosen 17th by Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

He was also selected as one of the 25 best recruiters in the nation by Rivals.com in the spring of 2009.

Franklin returned to the Terps staff in December, 2007, after spending two seasons at Kansas State, where he served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

In 2007 under Franklin's direction, K-State ranked 20th nationally in passing offense (285.4 yards per game) and 21st in scoring offense (35.2 points per game).

Franklin's offense had a record-breaking 2007 as the Wildcats had a 3,000-yard passer, a 1,500-yard receiver and a 1,000-yard rusher in a single season for the first time in school history. They also set single-season school records for pass attempts (510), completions (322) and passing yards (3,425).

Freeman and receiver Jordy Nelson, who is also playing professionally, were a dangerous pass-catch combination for Franklin.

Nelson became just the ninth player, and the only offensive player, in K-State history to be named a consensus All-American. He ranked second in the nation in both receptions (10.2 per game) and receiving yards (133.8 per game) en route to becoming a finalist for the Biletnikoff Award, which honors the top receiver in the nation.

Freeman threw for 3,353 yards and ranked 26th nationally in total offense (276.8 ypg) to earn honorable mention All-Big 12 honors. Running back James Johnson tallied 1,106 rushing yards to become a second-team all-league choice.

During the 2006 season, Franklin helped lead the Wildcats to a 7-6 record, a tie for second place in the Big 12's North Division and a berth in the Texas Bowl, ending a two-year postseason drought.

A total of seven players from Franklin's offensive unit earned postseason accolades in 2006, including Freeman, who was tapped as an honorable mention freshman All-America by The Sporting News. Freeman set the Kansas State single-season freshman record with 1,780 passing yards.

Prior to his stint in Manhattan, Kan., Franklin spent the 2005 season with the Green Bay Packers where he worked with receivers Donald Driver, Javon Walker and Robert Ferguson, as well as record-setting quarterback Brett Favre.

Driver posted what were then career highs with 86 receptions for 1,221 receiving yards. He also became just the fourth Packers player with an 85-reception season (joining Shannon Sharpe, Robert Brooks and Walker).

Despite losing Walker early in the season with a knee injury, the Packers still posted the sixth-highest receiving yards total in the NFL that season.

Franklin also spent five seasons (2000-04) as the Terps wide receivers coach where he quickly established himself as one of the nation's top recruiters.

In 2003, he was promoted by Friedgen to recruiting coordinator and helped deliver back-to-back recruiting classes that were ranked among the nation's top 25 by several prominent recruiting outlets. Rivals.com also ranked Franklin as one of the nation's top 25 recruiters for two consecutive years while at Maryland.

Maryland's receiving corps also flourished under Franklin's guidance. In 2001, Franklin mentored All-ACC wide receiver Guilian Gary, who led a balanced group of wideouts with 49 receptions for 727 yards and six touchdowns. Gary went on to finish his Maryland career ranked among the school's top 10 receivers in receptions, receiving yardage and receiving touchdowns.

In both 2002 and 2003, Franklin had four different receivers record at least 300 receiving yards despite returning just one starter each season.

Franklin was also a part of three bowl-game appearances in his first tour of duty in College Park.

Prior to his first stint at Maryland, Franklin rose quickly through the coaching ranks, making stops at five different schools in five years. He received his start in coaching at Kutztown University in 1995 as the program's receivers coach before returning to his alma mater, East Stroudsburg University, in 1996 as a graduate assistant and secondary coach.

In 1997, Franklin worked alongside former Kansas State head coach Ron Prince at James Madison, serving as the program's receivers coach. The following season, he received his first coaching assignment at a BCS conference school as the graduate assistant in charge of tight ends at Washington State for the 1998 season. Franklin then moved on to Idaho State in 1999 where he served as the wide receivers coach.

While at Idaho State, the Bengals' receiving corps totaled 29 touchdowns, 258 receptions and more than 3,300 receiving yards, contributing to one of the best offensive seasons in school history as ISU finished the year ranked ninth nationally in total offense.

Franklin has also served three NFL minority coaching internships with the Miami Dolphins (1998), Philadelphia Eagles (1999) and Minnesota Vikings (2008).

A four-year letterman as a quarterback at East Stroudsburg from 1991-94, Franklin was a two-time Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference selection. As a senior in 1994, he garnered team MVP honors and was a Harlon Hill nominee for Division II Player of the Year after setting seven school records, including single-season marks for total offense (3,128), passing yards (2,586) and TD passes (19). He also earned Sports Illustrated National Player of the Week honors in October of that season.

Franklin earned a bachelor of science degree in psychology from East Stroudsburg in 1995 and his master's in educational leadership from Washington State in 1999.

He and his wife, Fumi, have two girls, Ava and Addison.

Franklin Named Friedgen's Eventual Successor

Feb. 6, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Maryland assistant head coach/offensive coordinator James Franklin has been named the eventual successor to head coach Ralph Friedgen, director of athletics Deborah A. Yow announced Friday.

One of the top, young coaches in the nation, Franklin has experience at all levels of collegiate football and in the professional ranks. He has served as an assistant for five of Friedgen's eight seasons in College Park.

"James has been a very valuable asset to our program," Friedgen said. "This hopefully ensures his longevity at Maryland. He shares the same philosophy of Debbie and me, and similar values of Dr. (C.D.) Mote and the University. This will help us have a smoother transition when I decide to leave. From a recruiting and staffing standpoint this makes a lot of sense.

"James and his family are at a place they want to be. It's a good marriage for everyone."

Rivals.com ranked Franklin as one of the nation's top 25 recruiters for two consecutive years while at Maryland. Rivals.com again tapped him as one of the top 25 recruiters this past season.

"James Franklin is a winner in every sense of the word," Yow said. "He has great organizational skills, outstanding integrity and an outstanding work ethic. He is smart, has a strong commitment to excellence and is a relentless recruiter -- known widely as one of the top recruiters in the nation. James also has a personal passion for Terrapin Football.

"When Ralph steps down, the transition will be seamless. In the meantime, James will continue to work under the leadership of one of the finest people to ever coach the game. This is truly a dynamic combination."

Franklin returned to Maryland last season after spending two years as offensive coordinator at Kansas State and one season with the Green Bay Packers.

In 2007 under Franklin's direction, K-State's ranked 20th nationally in passing offense (285.4 yards per game) and 21st in scoring offense (35.2 points per game). Franklin's offense also had a record-breaking campaign that year as the Wildcats had a 3,000-yard passer, a 1,500-yard receiver and a 1,000-yard rusher in a single season for the first time in school history.

Prior to his time in Manhattan, Kan., he was the wide receivers coach at Green Bay for the 2005 season where he worked with receivers Donald Driver, Javon Walker and Robert Ferguson, as well as record-setting quarterback Brett Favre.

"I'm excited to continue to work for two of the most respected individuals in college athletics in Debbie Yow and my mentor, Ralph Friedgen. They have given me the opportunity to work at one of the best academic institutions in the country.

"I couldn't be happier to continue my career here and help Ralph and Debbie continue to build Maryland into one of the elite programs in the country. I'd like to thank the high school coaches and fans in the great state of Maryland and the District of Columbia for all their support over the years."

As of today, Franklin would become one of just two African-American head coaches at a BCS Conference school (also Randy Shannon, Miami). Overall there are currently only seven African-American head coaches at Football Bowl Subdivision schools.

What They're Saying About Franklin:

"James is an outstanding football coach who possesses the requisite traits to one day become a terrific head college coach. He has a solid combination of passion, desire and work ethic which helps in recruiting, coaching and retaining young football players. The University of Maryland got it right with this guy."

- Thomas Dimitroff, Atlanta Falcons general manager

"James had that head-coaching mentality when I first met him. People want to follow him. He is organized and detailed. He's a guy you want to work for and work with. He's bright, young and talented. He knows how to recruit and can formulate a game plan. He has it all. I'm excited for James and his family."

- Raheem Morris, Tampa Bay Buccaneers head coach

"James Franklin worked for me while I was the head coach of the Green Bay Packers. He came into our organization in the offseason and within a short period of time became very knowledgeable in what we were doing and how we were doing it. Also in that same time frame, he established an excellent rapport with his players. In making the jump from the college game to the NFL, Coach Franklin certainly did not display any angst in the process. He was extremely confident and believed in himself and what he was doing. I am sure he benefitted from being on Coach Ralph Friedgen's offensive staff for (four) seasons before becoming a Green Bay Packer. With the success Coach Friedgen has established with the program at Maryland, I know James certainly has big shoes to fill whenever Coach Friedgen retires, but I know James Franklin will hit the ground running and work diligently towards adding toward the future success of the University of the Maryland football program. He is a good X's and O's football coach who cares about players and will recruit well. He will be successful."

- Mike Sherman, Texas A&M (and former Green Bay Packer) head coach

Don Brown

Defensive Coordinator/Cornerbacks
Norwich '77 • Second Year at Maryland

With a successful head-coaching resume and a reputation for running an attacking-style defense, Don Brown is in his second season as Maryland's defensive coordinator.

He was hired in January 2009, coming to the Terrapins from the University of Massachusetts Amherst where he served as head coach the previous five years, which included a trip to the 2006 NCAA FCS championship game.

Brown demonstrated that attacking style last season as the Terps scored twice on defense (first time scoring on that side of the ball since 2006) and posted their highest sack total (2.25 per game) in five years.

During his tenure at UMass, the Minutemen maintained one of the top defensive units in the nation. They finished among the top 20 in total defense in three of his five seasons (third in 2005; 20th in 2006; 14th in 2007). UMass was also first nationally in scoring defense in 2005 and fifth in 2006.

Brown, who oversees the Maryland cornerbacks, led UMass to its best five-year span in program history as the Minutemen finished with 43 wins in his tenure, the third-highest total in school history. His winning percentage (.694/43-19) is tops in UMass annals.

In 2006 and 2007, he led UMass to a 23-5 overall record, including a 14-0 mark at home, as the Minutemen earned NCAA FCS postseason berths both years, while winning consecutive conference titles.

Brown led UMass to the 2006 national championship game after capturing the Atlantic 10 title with a perfect 8-0 record, becoming the first undefeated conference team since Villanova in 1997.

UMass tied the school record for wins in a season with a 13-2 record and set a school-mark for wins in a row with 12. The Minutemen finished the season ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Brown was recognized nationally and regionally for the team's accomplishments. He was named the 2006 AFCA Region I Coach of the Year, 2006 Atlantic 10 Coach of the Year and 2006 New England Football Coach of the Year.

The 2007 campaign was another historic one for the Minutemen, as UMass went 10-3 in capturing the first-ever CAA Football Championship with a 7-1 league mark. It was the 22nd overall conference crown in UMass history. UMass finished ranked No. 6 in the Coaches poll and No. 7 in the Sports Network Media poll after reaching the NCAA Quarterfinals.

After a rebuilding year in 2004, Brown had UMass ranked nationally in 2005.

The Minutemen jumped out to a 7-2 start in 2005 and were ranked as high as fifth in the nation, finishing the year 19th in polls. UMass had the top scoring defense in the nation (13.27 points per game) en route to a 7-4 overall record, including a 6-2 mark in the A-10 North.

A number of players garnered individual success during Brown's five seasons in Amherst.

The 2006 squad featured five All-Americans and the 2007 team had a first-team All-American on the offensive line in Matt Austin and a Walter Payton Award candidate in QB Liam Coen. The defense was anchored by Buchanan Award candidate and All-American Jason Hatchell along with six other All-Conference selections.

Brown prepared a number of players for the NFL while at UMass.

During the summer of 2008, UMass had eight players in NFL training camps, including Matt Lawrence (Chicago Bears), Brad Listorti (Atlanta Falcons) and Breyone Evans (Carolina Panthers).

Brown, who led UMass to five NCAA postseason wins, has served as a head coach at three universities and been a defensive coordinator at four schools. He has a 95-45 career mark as a head coach.

Prior to his head-coaching stint at UMass, Brown led the Northeastern Huskies for four seasons (2000-03).

He led a total transformation of the Huskies' program. After taking over a team coming off a 2-9 record, with just two winning seasons in the previous 12 before his arrival, Brown led Northeastern to a 27-20 mark. The Huskies posted winning records each of his last two seasons, going a combined 18-7 during that span.

During the 2003 season, Brown led Northeastern to an overall record of 8-4, and a third-place finish in the Atlantic 10 (6-3 mark). The eight victories tied for the second-most in school history, while the Huskies were the only team in the country to defeat eventual national champion Delaware.

In 2002, Brown led Northeastern to its best season in school history, as the Huskies went 10-3 overall and 7-1 in the Atlantic 10. Northeastern set a school single-season record for victories, while claiming a share of the Atlantic 10 title for the first time ever. In addition, the Huskies made their first-ever appearance in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs, while playing in only the second postseason game in school history.

Brown was one of the top defensive coaches in the Northeast before his two most recent stints as head coach.

Brown served as UMass' defensive coordinator under Mark Whipple during the 1998 and 1999 seasons. He helped UMass to two of the best seasons in school history, as the 1998 team posted an overall record of 12-3 and won the Division I-AA national championship.

During the 1996 and 1997 seasons, Brown served as Whipple's defensive coordinator at Brown University.

Brown, 54, also served as a head coach at Plymouth State (1993-95) where he posted a 25-6 mark (.806), leading the Panthers to a pair of Division III playoff appearances.

Prior to his time at Plymouth State he was the defensive coordinator at Dartmouth (1984-86) and Yale (1987-92).

Brown began his collegiate coaching career as an assistant at Dartmouth in 1982 after five seasons (1977-1982) at Hartford High School in White River Junction, Vt. He moved on to Mansfield (Pa.) University as an assistant coach in 1983.

He is a 1977 graduate of Norwich University where he starred at running back and is now a member of the NU Hall of Fame. He earned his master's degree from Plymouth State in 1996.

A native of Spencer, Mass., Brown and his wife, Deborah, have four children (Echo, Zachariah, Rana and Chelsea) and three grandchildren (Lola, Piper and William).

Charles Banks

Special Teams Coordinator/Tight Ends
James Madison '94 • Second Year at Maryland

Charles Banks is in his second season as special teams coordinator/tight ends coach at Maryland, having been hired in February, 2009.

Banks has experience coaching offense and special teams at the collegiate and professional levels.

Banks demonstrated his special teams expertise last season as the Terps produced an All-American and an all-league performer.

Torrey Smith set the ACC single-season kickoff return yards mark for the second straight season en route to second team All-ACC honors. Smith returned two kickoffs for touchdowns and posted 2,192 all-purpose yards, a Maryland single-season record and the second-highest total in ACC history.

Banks also groomed Nick Ferrara, who earned freshman All-America honors as a place-kicker and served as the No. 1 punter for five games.

Banks also had quite a bit of success at his last stop, serving as an assistant at the University of Richmond, which captured the 2008 NCAA Football Championship Subdivision (FCS) title.

During Banks' two-year stint as Richmond's running backs coach, the Spiders had one of the most prolific rushing attacks in the country.

In 2008, the Spiders had the 24th-ranked offense in the nation, led by Josh Vaughan who rushed for 1,884 yards.

In 2007, the Richmond rushing attack ranked second in the Colonial Athletic Conference and No. 12 nationally (234.6 yards per game). Tim Hightower, a fifth-round choice of the Arizona Cardinals in the 2008 NFL Draft, headlined the ground game with 20 touchdowns and 1,924 rushing yards (sixth in the NCAA). Both of those marks are school records, two of the 12 Hightower holds.

Hightower, the Spiders' all-time leading rusher, is one of eight players coached by Banks to reach the NFL.

Banks also oversaw Richmond's special teams in 2008 when the Spiders ranked 27th nationally in punt returns (12.0 yards per return) and 22nd in kickoff coverage (18.0 ypr). Individually, Derek Hatcher ranked 25th in punt returns (10.8 ypg).

A native of Leonardtown, Md., Banks had two stints at Hampton University (2000-04; 2006) and spent the 2005 season with the St. Louis Rams.

He served as Hampton's running backs coach and recruiting coordinator in his first tour of duty before returning as the offensive coordinator for the 2006 season.

With Banks mentoring the backfield, Hampton saw all-time leading rusher Montrell Coley win the 2000 Division I-AA scoring title (172 points) and lead the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference with 1,582 yards on the ground.

In the 2003 Super Bowl, Darian Barnes, another Banks product from Hampton, started at fullback for the World Champion Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

In 2004, Howard's Alonzo Coleman and Ardell Daniels became the only pair of Division I-AA running backs to each rush for more than 1,000 yards. The duo then repeated that performance a year later.

Though in line to become the next offensive coordinator, Banks left Hampton after the 2004 season to serve as an assistant special teams coach with the Rams.

While on Mike Martz's staff, Banks helped the Rams' special teams corps improve 15 spots, from an NFL ranking of 32nd to 17th by season's end.

He got his first taste of the NFL in 2002, spending the summer as a minority-coaching intern for the Green Bay Packers. Banks was also a special teams intern with the Jacksonville Jaguars during the summer of 2004.

In addition, Banks was named to the 2004 NCAA Expert Coaching Academy.

Banks lettered three years (1990-92) at running back for James Madison University. He was tabbed the most improved player in the spring of 1991.

He earned his bachelor's degree in 1994, majoring in speech communication with a minor in political science.

He also earned a graduate degree from Eastern Kentucky where he coached wide receivers in 1997. He was also a graduate assistant and academic advisor in 1996.

He got his coaching start at his alma mater, Leonardtown High School, in 1995 when he served as the special teams coordinator and offensive backfield coach.

Banks went on to coach wide receivers and tight ends for one season at both James Madison (1998) and Indiana (Pa.) University (1999).

Banks and his wife, Katrina, have one daughter, Ashley.

Tom Brattan

Offensive Line

Delaware '72 • 10th Year at Maryland

After coaching in the Big Ten and Pac-10, Tom Brattan has found a home with Maryland in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The veteran coach is in his 10th season as the Terps' offensive line coach. He boasts more than 35 years of coaching experience, including 28 at the collegiate level.

The Maryland offensive line has been one of the team's strengths since 2001, producing seven first team All-Atlantic Coast Conference performers and a handful of other players honored by both the league and national media.

He has also prepared a number of players for the next level as eight of his former Terp pupils are on NFL rosters, including Bruce Campbell, a fourth-round choice of Oakland in the spring.

In 2008, Edwin Williams was a first team All-ACC selection, while Jaimie Thomas and Scott Burley were honorable mention choices. Williams and Thomas have moved onto the NFL ranks.

In 2007, Andrew Crummey was tabbed a second team All-American, while Burley earned all-conference honors.

Over the last four seasons, Brattan's offensive line opened holes for three of the top backs in school history.

In 2008, Da'Rel Scott rushed for 1,133 yards, the seventh-highest single-season total in school history.

One year before that, Lance Ball completed his career ranked fourth in school history in rushing yards and Keon Lattimore ended his tenure No. 14 on the rushing list.

In 2006, Crummey and Stephon Heyer were recognized as part of the All-ACC team. Heyer also earned a spot on ESPN.com's All-Bowl team for his performance in the Champs Sports Bowl vs. All-American and 2007 first-round NFL Draft choice Anthony Spencer of Purdue.

The 2006 unit allowed Ball and Lattimore to each rush for over 700 yards and yielded just 19 sacks, the second-lowest total in the ACC.

In 2005, he mentored Jared Gaither to third team freshman All-America honors. Brattan also oversaw a young line to a season that helped Ball earn second team All-ACC recognition at tailback, all despite losing its top player (Heyer) prior to the season. The season was reminiscent of the 2003 campaign when an injury-plagued unit still produced the nation's 24th-best rushing offense, allowed just 20 sacks and had a first team All-ACC performer in C.J. Brooks.

In previous seasons, the Maryland line had similar success. In 2002, Brattan had four of five linemen earn All-ACC recognition while the team had the league's second-rated rushing attack (198.8 ypg) and scoring offense (32.2 ppg) while allowing 21 sacks in 14 games.

In his first year (2001), the Terps averaged 35.5 points per game, allowed just 18 sacks and paved the way for a 1,242-yard season from Doak Walker finalist Bruce Perry. In doing so, Melvin Fowler earned All-ACC recognition en route to being drafted by the Cleveland Browns in the third round and Todd Wike earning a first team all-league nod.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Brattan spent two years (1999-00) at Stanford, where he served as the Cardinal's line coach in charge of centers and guards. Stanford went 8-4 in 1999 en route to a Rose Bowl bid. The 1999 Stanford offense scored at least 31 points in all but three games and hit the 50-point plateau three times. That year, Brattan's offensive line allowed just 15 sacks despite 385 passing attempts (one sack for every 27 attempts).

Brattan took his first full-time job at the collegiate level at William & Mary in 1983 as an offensive backfield coach. After just one season, he was promoted to offensive coordinator and served the remainder of his tenure (1984-91) in that capacity. He also worked with the offensive line at William & Mary. In that time, the Tribe advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs on three occasions. From 1986 to 1990, William & Mary earned national rankings in three seasons (No. 9 in 1986; No. 13 in 1989; No. 7 in 1990). The success was largely a product of Brattan's offensive design as his unit ranked in the top 20 in offense in 1985 and 1986, while it had the top-rated attack in Division I-AA for the 1990 season and the sixth-best in '91.

Brattan took his success at the I-AA level to his next job, Northwestern, where he resided from 1992-98 as offensive line coach. In Brattan's first three years at the school, the Wildcats continued to struggle, pushing their streak of seasons without a winning mark to 23.

Then in 1995, the Wildcats were in the national spotlight as they came seemingly out of nowhere to win the Big Ten championship for the first time in 47 years and advance to the Rose Bowl where they ultimately fell to USC. They finished the year ranked No. 7 in the nation with a 10-2 mark. Brattan's line allowed just eight sacks all year while helping propel Darnell Autry to a new school rushing record. Northwestern finished fifth nationally in rushing.

The Wildcats posted a combined 15-1 league record in 1995 and 1996, taking the Big Ten crown both years after having won just five league games in the previous three years. In 1996, they earned a bid to play Tennessee in the Citrus Bowl.

Brattan got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Delaware, in 1972. After one year in Newark, he took his first full-time coaching post at Highland Springs (Va.) High School as an offensive line coach. After three years (1973-75) at Highland Springs, he moved back to his home state of Delaware and took his first head coaching job at McKean High School in 1977. He spent one year at McKean - the same high school that helped produce Maryland legend Randy White - before moving back to Virginia and taking over as the head coach at Lloyd C. Bird High School. After serving at Bird in 1978, he returned to Highland Springs -- this time as a head coach -- for his final four years (1979-82) at the prep level.

A native of Newark, Del., Brattan is a 1972 graduate of his hometown school where he earned his bachelor's degree in history and later earned his master's degree in education in 1977. He was a member of the Blue Hen football team, lettering in 1971. He and his wife, Anne, have three children -- Kristen, Kate and Megan.

John Donovan

Running Backs

Johns Hopkins '97 • 10th Year at Maryland

One of the more versatile members of the staff, John Donovan is in his 10th season at Maryland, including fourth as the running backs coach.

Donovan spent his first four years with the Terps as assistant recruiting coordinator before becoming running backs coach in 2005.

After spending the next two seasons (2006-07) overseeing the Terps' quarterbacks, Donovan returned to coaching the running backs in the spring of 2008.

That fall, the running back unit experienced quite a bit of success.

Da'Rel Scott had a breakout campaign, posting 1,133 rushing yards - the seventh highest single-season total in school history - en route to first team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors.

Davin Meggett also rushed for 430 yards, the most by a Terp true freshman in 11 years, and Cory Jackson, who started at fullback for three seasons (2007-09), had his usual steady season.

Last season, Scott missed five games with a broken arm and the running game never quite got on track.

Donovan's running back unit returns intact this year with the exception of Jackson who has moved on to the NFL.

Meggett, Gary Douglas and D.J. Adams give Donovan quality depth at tailback.

In his second year as QB coach, Donovan helped groom a new starting quarterback.

Jordan Steffy, who was the lone signal-caller on the squad to take snaps entering 2007, opened as the starter before getting injured and giving way to Chris Turner.

Turner emerged as a viable option for the Terps, throwing for nearly 2,000 yards in eight starts, finishing third in the ACC in passing efficiency and helping the Terps knock off two Top 10 teams (Rutgers and BC).

Donovan's first season mentoring the signal-callers was one of the more successful in recent years, as he helped Sam Hollenbach complete his career among the school's passing leaders. Hollenbach ended his tenure fourth on the school's career passing yards list. He threw for 2,371 yards and 15 touchdowns in 2006 en route to All-ACC honors.

In his first season as running backs coach, Donovan's unit was lacking a returning starter and without the services of Josh Allen whose season had ended with a knee injury.

In the end, Donovan got strong performances from Mario Merrills and Keon Lattimore, and ultimately found a viable starter in Lance Ball, who ended up rushing for over 100 yards in four of the team's final seven games, earning second team All-ACC honors along the way.

Prior to taking over as running backs coach, Donovan's position in the recruiting department included maintaining and organizing the Terrapins' recruiting database, setting up all recruiting events (official and unofficial visits, game day visits, recruiting weekends, etc.) and serving as director of all Maryland football camps. In addition, he oversaw the group of graduate assistants employed by the team from 2001-04.

Donovan's current post is his first full-time coaching position at the Football Bowl Subdivision level (formerly Division I-A), but that is not to say he came to Maryland without experience.

Prior to coming to College Park, he served as an offensive graduate assistant at Georgia Tech for three years, working directly with then-offensive coordinator Ralph Friedgen. In that time, he broke down all opponent game film, assisted with coaching quarterbacks (1998) and the offensive line (1999-2000) while helping Friedgen with game planning and practice preparation.

During his tenure, Tech won an ACC Championship (1998) and had the nation's leading offense (1999), averaging over 200 yards passing and rushing while setting 59 school records in the process.

Notably, Donovan's first job as a position coach at the Division I-A level - though temporary -- came when Friedgen departed at the end of the 2000 season to become the Terrapins' head coach. Bill O'Brien was elevated to serve as the team's offensive coordinator for the 2000 Peach Bowl in Friedgen's absence and Donovan was called upon to serve as the Yellow Jackets' running backs coach for the game.

Prior to his arrival in Atlanta, Donovan worked as an assistant secondary coach at Villanova, helping the Wildcats post a 12-1 record in 1997 and a No. 1 ranking (Division I-AA) in the season's final six weeks. His responsibilities with the Wildcats included coaching the team's safeties, coordinating scout teams for the offense and special teams and breaking down game film for the defense.

A 1997 graduate of Johns Hopkins University, Donovan was a three-year starter for the Blue Jays. He was twice named an all-conference defensive back and recorded 12 career interceptions. While in school, he worked as a training camp intern for the Carolina Panthers. He later went on to earn his master's degree in economics from Georgia Tech.

A native of River Edge, N.J., Donovan married the former Stacey Spicer of Potomac, Md., in May, 2005. The couple has two young children, a son (John Patrick) and daughter (Cate).

Lee Hull

Wide Receivers

Holy Cross '88 • Third Year at Maryland

With a background that includes a professional playing career and a diverse coaching resume, Lee Hull is in his third season as wide receivers coach at Maryland.

Hull, who spent the previous five seasons as an assistant coach at Oregon State University, tutored some of the top receivers in Maryland history the last two years.

In his first season in College Park, Hull helped prepare first-round NFL Draft pick Darrius Heyward-Bey for the next level and oversaw a unit which featured senior standouts Isaiah Williams and Danny Oquendo.

He also began the process of grooming a number of youngsters including Torrey Smith, Ronnie Tyler, Quintin McCree and Tony Logan, all of whom figured into the rotation in 2009 and should again this year.

Smith emerged as team's No. 1 playmaker, posting 61 receptions, 824 receiving yards and five TDs. The reception total ranks fifth on the Maryland single-season list, while the receiving yards are sixth.

Hull also has experience coaching other positions.

He tutored running backs his first two seasons in Corvallis and wide receivers the last three. He coached three OSU All-Americans, including a pair of wideouts, and was a part of four bowl wins.

The 44-year-old had three receivers catch 30 or more passes in 2007, including Darrell Catchings, who was a freshman All-American along with fellow wideout James Rodgers.

In 2006, he coached Sammie Stroughter to All-America status in one of Oregon State's best seasons. The Beavers posted a 10-4 record, second-best in school history, including a win over Missouri in the Sun Bowl. That season, Stroughter led the Pac-10 Conference and ranked 10th in the country in receiving yards per game (92.4).

Stroughter was on the watch list for the 2007 Biletnikoff Award, which honors the top receiver in the nation. He went on to be selected in the 2009 NFL Draft by Tampa Bay.

In Hull's first season in charge of OSU wide receivers, Mike Hass ended his stellar career as a first-team All-America selection and the winner of the 2005 Biletnikoff Award. Hass posted the third-highest receiving yards total (3,924) in league history. He is currently a member of the Seattle Seahawks.

Hull also coached current St. Louis Rams' running back Steven Jackson during the 2003 season. Jackson was a first-team All-Pac-10 and third-team All-America choice as a junior, his final season at OSU.

Prior to his five seasons at Oregon State, Hull spent five years (1998-2002) at his alma mater, the College of the Holy Cross. He coached linebackers for one season before becoming wide receivers coach, as well as overseeing the kickoff coverage and kickoff return units. He also went on to become the passing game coordinator.

Hull was a standout wide receiver at Holy Cross from 1984-87, playing under former Maryland coach Mark Duffner his final two seasons. The Crusaders posted a 21-1 record his last two years and were ranked No. 1 in Division I-AA in 1987. Holy Cross also won the Colonial League title and the Lambert Cup that season. He was a preseason All-America choice as a junior.

He went on to play professionally with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the CFL. Hull spent 1990-92 with Winnipeg where he was coached by Mike Riley in his first season. Riley was the head coach at Oregon State during Hull's five-year tenure. The Blue Bombers won the 1990 Grey Cup. He also played for Toronto in 1992.

Hull was also a free-agent signee of the New England Patriots in 1998.

Prior to joining Holy Cross, he coached at the prep level in Massachusetts for five years. He was offensive coordinator at South High School in Worcester, Mass., for three years (1992-94) and the passing game coordinator at Auburn High School in 1995. He returned to South High in 1996 as head coach.

During his coaching career, Hull has participated in a number of internships. In 1999 he interned in the CFL. In 2000 and 2001 he took part in the NFL's Minority Internship Program. In addition, he attended the 2007 Minority Coaches Forum in Chandler, Ariz.

Hull earned his bachelor's degree in economics from Holy Cross in 1988 and a master's in secondary education from Worcester State in 1995.

He had a stellar high school career as both a football player and track performer.

A native of Vineland, N.J., Hull lettered twice as a wide receiver for Vineland High School. He was selected All-Cape League, first-team All-South Jersey, first-team All-New Jersey Group-4, honorable mention all-state and the Vineland Student-Athlete of the Year. He was a long jumper and ran the 400 meters.

Hull and his wife, Stacey, have two sons, Alexander and Jordan, and one daughter, Laila.

Kevin Lempa

Safeties

Southern Connecticut State '74 • Fourth Year at Maryland

A veteran of the collegiate and professional ranks, Kevin Lempa is in his fourth season as an assistant coach with the Maryland Terrapins.

Lempa coached the entire defensive backfield his first two seasons in College Park and now oversees the safeties.

Defensive coordinator Don Brown, who is in his second season, handles the cornerback position as he has throughout his career.

In his first season in College Park, Lempa helped direct an impressive pass defense as the Terps yielded just 210.7 yards per game.

He used a talented group of veterans and newcomers, including Christian Varner, Isaiah Gardner, J.J. Justice, Kevin Barnes, Anthony Wiseman and Nolan Carroll, to help the Terps rank No. 33 nationally in pass defense.

Barnes and Gardner were among the league leaders in pass coverage. Those two cornerbacks each ranked tied for fifth in the Atlantic Coast Conference in passes defended, while Barnes was tied for seventh in interceptions.

In 2008, Maryland had two of the top defenders in the ACC. Carroll averaged 0.80 passes defended per game which ranked third in the league. Wiseman was tied for fourth in the same category (0.77 pg).

Barnes, despite missing the second half of the season with a shoulder injury, was taken in the third round of the 2009 NFL Draft by the Washington Redskins.

Wiseman was again atop the league in pass defense last season, ranking fourth (0.75 per game) in pass breakups.

No matter what the combination of his secondary, Lempa has over two decades grooming defensive backs.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Lempa spent four seasons (2003-06) as the secondary coach with Boston College, where he led one of the top units in both the Big East and ACC.

The Eagles were among the nation's best in picking off passes in 2006. BC's 21 interceptions were tied for third nationally, trailing only Western Michigan (24) and Wake Forest (22). They also had 17 interceptions in 2004 which led the Big East.

Two of his defensive backs - cornerback DeJuan Tribble and strong safety Ryan Glasper - were All-ACC performers in 2006.

Tribble's 0.54 interceptions per game in 2006 were tied for eighth nationally, helping BC rank 34th in total defense (310.9 yards per game) and 14th in scoring defense (15.7 points per game).

Prior to his second stint at BC (he was at the school as an assistant from 1981-90), Lempa was the defensive coordinator at the University of Hawai'i from 2000-02.

During Lempa's tenure, Hawai'i placed high nationally in several defensive categories. The 2001 team finished the year 9-3 and put four players on the All-Western Athletic Conference team. The 2002 team went 10-4 and played in the ConAgra Foods Hawai'i Bowl.

Lempa spent three seasons (1997-99) in the NFL as a defensive assistant with the San Diego Chargers. San Diego had one of the better defenses in the NFL during that period and led the league in yards allowed (263.0 pg) in 1998.

Lempa is a 1974 graduate of Southern Connecticut State University, where he was a two-year starter at wide receiver.

Before serving on the Chargers' staff, he was the defensive coordinator at Dartmouth College (1991-96) where he coached three All-New England/ECAC defensive backs.

He also spent four years (1977-80) at the University of Maine with former BC coach Jack Bicknell before the two moved on to Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Lempa went to four bowl games during his first 10 years at BC, including the 1985 Cotton Bowl. Overall, he has coached in 11 bowl games, including each of the last seven seasons (four with Boston College, two with Maryland and one with Hawaii).

The Eagles went to the 2006 Meineke Car Care Bowl, the 2005 MPC Computers Bowl, the 2005 Continental Tire Bowl and the 2003 Diamond Walnut San Francisco Bowl.

Lempa has a master's degree from the University of Maine (1978). He and his wife Sara, have two grown children, Christopher and Tara.

Al Seamonson

Linebackers/Special Teams Assistant
Wisconsin '82 • 10th Year at Maryland

One of the more versatile members of the staff, Al Seamonson is in his 10th season at Maryland.

Seamonson coached outside linebackers his first eight seasons, working mostly with the strongside (Sam) backers and the LEOs (linebacker end option), a hybrid of defensive end and outside linebacker.

With the addition of coordinator Don Brown last year, Seamonson's responsibilities increased, as he now handles the whole linebacking corps.

Seamonson, who also assists special teams coordinator Charles Bankins, has prepared a number of defensive players for the NFL over the years, including All-Pro Shawne Merriman.

There are currently six former Maryland linebackers on NFL rosters and Seamonson had a hand in grooming most of them.

Former walk-on Moise Fokou was one of the top linebackers in the Atlantic Coast Conference his last two seasons. He tallied five sacks from his Sam linebacker spot in 2008 (the most by a Terp since Merriman's 8.5 in 2004) and went on to be selected by the Philadelphia Eagles in the 2009 NFL Draft.

Fokou was among the top defensive rookies in the NFL last year, earning five starts at outside linebacker.

Chase Bullock and Dave Philistin, who each earned spots on NFL camp rosters in the summer of 2009, also spent time under Seamonson's tutelage in their careers.

In 2006, Seamonson was responsible for a unit that was consistently among the defense's best tacklers. Among his pupils, Sam LB David Holloway ended the year third on the team in tackles and moved on to the NFL, where he spent three seasons (2007-09).

In 2005, Seamonson guided Holloway to a productive year (61 tackles, 4.5 TFLs, 3.0 sacks) working to replace one of the defense's top players in Merriman.

Merriman was a first team All-ACC pick in 2004 and ended up second in the ACC in sacks and tackles for loss en route to being the 12th overall pick of the 2005 NFL Draft by San Diego and eventually the league's Defensive Rookie of the Year.

In 2003, Seamonson helped lead a defense that was again one of the top units in the nation in scoring (sixth) and total defense (15th). Merriman finished the season with the second-most sacks in the ACC.

In 2002, Seamonson helped coach a Terp defense that ranked first in the ACC and seventh nationally in scoring, allowing just 16.3 points per game. In addition, the Maryland rushing and passing defense each ranked in the top three in the league while the team was second in the conference in sacks (37) and red-zone defense.

That season, Seamonson's outside linebackers were a source of both steady improvement and big plays while Merriman was named to The Sporting News ACC All-Rookie team. All of this came on the heels of a team that had the nation's fourth-best turnover margin (+1.45 average) and the ACC's lowest scoring defense (19.1 points per game) in his first season on the job in 2001.

Seamonson boasts 27 years of collegiate coaching experience.

Prior to coming to Maryland, he spent the 2000 season at Bowling Green State University -- where he worked under former Terp defensive coordinator Gary Blackney -- as special teams coordinator and linebackers coach. Seamonson helped the Falcons rank fourth in the MAC in rushing defense and total defense.

Seamonson's coaching tenure prior to BGSU was weighted heavily in military settings. From 1987-99, he worked at The Citadel, where he started as a wide receivers coach (1987) before serving the remainder of his tenure (1988-99) as special teams coordinator and linebackers coach.

At The Citadel, Seamonson coached under former Terp offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe and worked alongside current defensive line coach Dave Sollazzo. He helped coach five linebackers to All-Southern Conference honors and one (J.J. Davis) to an appearance in the Senior Bowl. The highlight of his tenure was in 1992 when the Bulldogs led Division I-AA in scoring defense, yielding just 13.0 points per contest en route to a Southern Conference championship while advancing to the I-AA playoffs for the third time in five years.

The Citadel was not Seamonson's first taste of the military life, however, as he was a linebackers coach at the U.S. Military Academy (Army) in West Point, N.Y., for the 1985 and '86 seasons. In his first year at Army, the Cadets were one of the surprise teams in the country as they won the 1985 Peach Bowl, 31-29, over Illinois. It was one of just four times in the Academy's history that it had gone to a bowl game.

A 1982 graduate of Wisconsin and a two-year letterwinner at wide receiver, Seamonson got his start in coaching in Madison. In 1982, he served as a volunteer coach for Wisconsin's wide receivers. The next two years he was a graduate assistant working with the secondary.

A native of Stoughton, Wis., Seamonson was a wide receiver at Stoughton High School and was a captain for the all-state Shrine Team in 1977. He and his wife, Kristi, have three children: Kylen, Kalvin and Karter.

Kylen and Kalvin both attend Maryland. Kalvin is a freshman on the football team.

Dave Sollazzo

Defensive Line/Recruiting Coordinator
The Citadel '77 • 13th Year at Maryland

A veteran of the Atlantic Coast Conference, Dave Sollazzo is in his 10th year as defensive line coach and fifth season as recruiting coordinator at Maryland.

Sollazzo is in his 13th season overall at the University. He was a volunteer defensive line coach for the Terps in 1986 and '87 as well as a graduate assistant in 1984.

Sollazzo's work orchestrating the Terps' recruiting efforts have led to the signing of some outstanding student-athletes.

Over the last three seasons, the Terps have signed 72 student-athletes ranked among the top 100 nationally at their positions, including 17 All-Americans. In addition, 56 of the 88 signees received all-state recognition during their careers.

The 2009 recruiting class was ranked No. 26 nationally by Rivals.com (highest since 2005) and 27th by Scout.com.

On the field Sollazzo has groomed a number of players for the next level.

Jeremy Navarre, a four-year starter, earned honorable mention All-ACC honors in 2008 en route to signing with the NFL's Jacksonville Jaguars where he earned extensive playing time last season.

Dean Muhtadi, a significant contributor his last two seasons (2007-08), also moved onto the NFL, where he has spent time with Green Bay and Arizona.

In 2007, the defensive line was led by Dre Moore who secured first-team All-ACC honors and went on to be selected in the fourth round of the 2008 NFL Draft by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

In 2006, Moore anchored the line along with Conrad Bolston, who played parts of two seasons in the NFL.

During the 2005 season, Maryland's defensive line was one in transition, but the unit again played well. Bolston had his best season, leading the team with five sacks, while Navarre (25 tackles, 2 1/2 TFLs), a converted fullback, emerged as a true freshman.

In 2004, the Terrapin defense ranked 21st nationally, giving up an average of 315.3 yards per game. Though it had lost standout DT Randy Starks a year early (selected by the Tennessee Titans in the 2004 NFL Draft), the defensive line still performed well, helping the team to top 25 rankings in three categories.

In 2003, the Terps were first in the league in total defense (15th nationally) and pass defense while finishing third in rushing defense. They recorded 35 sacks, just one fewer than league leader Florida State, and Starks became just the second Maryland tackle in 15 years to earn first team all-conference honors.

In 2002, Maryland finished second in the league in total defense while holding its opponents to 57 yards below their season rushing averages coming into their respective games with the Terrapins. In addition, the Terps finished atop the league and seventh nationally in scoring defense, yielding just 16.3 points per game. Individually, Starks earned second-team All-ACC honors in just his second season.

In his first year back at UM, Sollazzo took a group that entered the season as a concern in terms of talent and depth, and turned it into a rock-solid unit that helped anchor one of the top defenses in the ACC as the team led the league in rushing and scoring defense. Under his tutelage, nose tackle Charles Hill became an honorable mention All-ACC pick and, ultimately, a third-round choice of the Houston Texans in the 2002 NFL Draft.

Prior to his current stint at Maryland, Sollazzo spent two seasons (1999-00) at Georgia Tech as a defensive tackles coach helping the Yellow Jackets reach bowl games each year (1999 Gator Bowl / 2000 Peach Bowl).

Before joining the Yellow Jackets, Sollazzo was the defensive line coach at The Citadel from 1989-98. The Citadel was another homecoming for Sollazzo, as he had lettered for the Bulldogs for three years on the defensive line from 1974-76. In that time, he started 33 consecutive games under former Maryland coach Bobby Ross. His position coach was Ralph Friedgen.

As a coach at The Citadel, Sollazzo helped Brad Keeney achieve All-America honors and Southern Conference-leading totals in sacks and tackles for loss in 1995.

In addition, he coached nine other defensive linemen to all-conference honors while with the Bulldogs. The highlight of his coaching career in Charleston, S.C., however, may have been his involvement in helping The Citadel to the 1992 Southern Conference championship and a No. 1 ranking at the end of the regular season. That squad led the nation in points allowed (13 ppg) and finished sixth in pass efficiency defense. In 1997, he was a part of an impressive defensive effort in which the Bulldogs finished their season by not allowing a touchdown over the final 13 quarters.

Along with his ties to Maryland and The Citadel, Sollazzo has an extensive history in prep coaching. With the exception of the Maryland job in 1984 (a season that saw the Terps win the ACC and earn a berth in the Sun Bowl), Sollazzo was a high school defensive coordinator in South Carolina from 1978-85.

Sollazzo was born in the same hometown as Friedgen, Harrison, N.Y., on Christmas Eve, 1955, and earned his degree from The Citadel in 1977. He and his wife, Ellen, have a son, Christopher.

Dwight Galt

Director Of Strength & Conditioning
Maryland '81 • 23rd Year at Maryland

Dwight Galt is in his 23rd year at Maryland, including 16th year as the school's director of strength and conditioning. His responsibilities include managing the department's three weight-training facilities, and coordinating strength and conditioning programs for the Terps' 27 varsity sports, with special emphasis on football.

In addition to earning his bachelor's degree in business management in 1981 and his master's degree in exercise physiology in 1989 from Maryland, Galt is Master Strength and Conditioning Coach (MSCC) certified with the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches' Association and is currently one of just 69 coaches to earn this distinction.

Galt began his career at Maryland in 1984 as an intern strength coach. He assisted with the training of the 1984 and 1985 ACC Champion football teams.

In 1989, he became a full-time assistant strength coach, and for the next three years worked with all of Maryland's intercollegiate sports programs. In 1992, Galt became the assistant strength coach for football and he is now in his 17th year of providing complete athletic development training to Terp football team members.

Galt, 52, and his wife Jan are natives of Silver Spring, Md., and have four children: Angie, Teri, Dwight IV (Deege) and Tommy.

Deege and Tommy were members of the football team for five years, ending their playing careers in 2009.

Jemal Griffin

Director Of Football Operations
Coppin State '96 • Fifth Year at Maryland

Jemal Griffin is in his fifth season with the Maryland football program, including third as the director of football operations.

Griffin is responsible for the daily management of the football program, including all aspects of team travel, team housing and special events.

He served as assistant recruiting coordinator during the 2006 and 2007 seasons when the Terps landed a pair of classes which were highlighted by 31 student-athletes ranked among the top 100 nationally at their positions, including nine All-Americans.

Prior to arriving in College Park, Griffin spent seven years as a member of the staff at Woodlawn High School in Baltimore. He started as defensive backs coach in 1999, a year later he was named assistant head coach and offensive coordinator, where he was tasked with all aspects of the Warriors' offense and recruiting. While there, Griffin coached two high school All-Americans, as well as many all-state and All-Metro players. His teams earned a 45-27 record during his tenure, including two Baltimore County 3A-4A championships and two Maryland 4A North championships.

A native of Baltimore, Griffin played baseball and football at Northwestern High School. As a senior, he was named to the Baltimore Sun's All-Metro football team. He earned his degree in management science from Coppin State University, where he was a four-year starter on the Eagles baseball team, and was named to the MEAC's All-Tournament team as a senior. He and his wife, Carla, have two boys (Brandon and Joshua) and one daughter (Billie Grace).

Ryan Steinberg

Assistant Recruiting Coordinator
Maryland '07 • Fourth Year at Maryland

Ryan Steinberg is in his fourth season with Maryland, including second as the assistant recruiting coordinator.

Steinberg maintains the recruiting database and is in charge of mailings. He also organizes recruit visits and special events, as well as assisting in academic and compliance issues for prospective student-athletes.

In addition, he oversees FeartheTerps.com, the football program's recruiting-based Web site.

He spent the 2007 season as an intern on the Maryland staff. Steinberg was also the assistant camp director in 2008 and 2009.

Prior to becoming a full-time member of the staff, Steinberg spent five seasons as a student assistant in the Maryland football office.

He served as the Gridiron Technology specialist from January 2006 through May 2007, helping implement and maintain the state-of-the-art computer program which aids the coaches and players in simulating game action.

Steinberg also spent the 2002 through 2006 football seasons as a student equipment manager, including the final three as the head student manager.

He also worked at the Terrapin Technique School each summer as a student.

A native of North Potomac, Md., Steinberg graduated from Maryland in 2007 with a bachelor's degree in family studies. He also minored in sports commerce and culture and is pursuing a master's at Maryland.

2009 REVIEW NOTEBOOK

Quick Hits...

- Maryland struggled to a 2-10 finish in 2009 while playing with a largely inexperienced group. The Terps had just 14 seniors in 2009, the smallest senior class in head coach Ralph Friedgen's tenure. Over the course of the season, 10 true freshmen saw action for the Terps, the most during Friedgen's stint. Despite the 10 losses, Maryland was in nearly every game to the last possession. In seven of the losses, the Terps were within a touchdown in the fourth quarter. They lost four games by four points or less and the last two by a combined five points.
- A number of injuries to key players plagued the Terps all season, as several starters went down early in the season. No. 1 cornerback Nolan Carroll was lost for the season in the second game; left tackle Bruce Campbell, a fourth round selection in the 2010 NFL Draft, missed three games; All-ACC punter Travis Baltz missed five contests with two different injuries; and All-ACC running back Da'Rel Scott missed five games with a broken wrist. In all, Maryland lost 43 man-games to potential starters.
- While the Terps struggled in the turnover department overall in 2009, the team made some strides on both sides of the ball late in the season. Maryland was tied for 97th in the nation in turnover margin (-0.55 per game), but was +7.0 over the last five games. Over that span, the defense forced 10 turnovers (plus one on special teams against NC State) after inducing just seven in the first seven contests.
- The Terps, who have made six bowl trips in nine years under Friedgen, missed out on the postseason in 2009 for the first time in four years.

Wujciak Sets The Bar...

- After a stellar sophomore season in which he recorded a team-leading 133 tackles, Alex Wujciak again led the Terps in 2009 with 131 stops, becoming the first player to record at least 125 tackles in back-to-back seasons for Maryland since E.J. Henderson did it in 2002-03. The middle linebacker finished the season second in tackles in the ACC and eighth nationally (10.9 per game), helping him earn first team All-ACC honors. Wujciak was not only a force as a tackler, however, as he also made two long interception returns – one for a touchdown – in setting the Maryland single-season mark for interception return yards with 152. His inclusion on the All-ACC team continued a strong tradition established during the Friedgen era – the Terps have had a linebacker on either the first or second team for nine consecutive years.

Legacy Builder...

- Chris Turner entered the 2009 season as the unquestioned No. 1 quarterback for the first time in his career after taking over for an injured Jordan Steffy in 2007 and winning the job in camp in 2008. By the time the season was over, he had secured his place beside some of the greatest quarterbacks to ever play at Maryland. Turner passed for 2,069 yards to bring his career total to 6,543, which ranks second in school history behind only Scott Milanovich's 7,301. The California native also finished his career fourth in completion percentage (59.4), second in passing yards (6,543), second in total offense (6,385), second in completions (547), second in pass attempts (918), fourth in TD passes (30), seventh in total TDs (33) and 13th in passing efficiency (124.1). Turner went 6-2 in his career against top 25 teams, had four 300-yard passing games and is one of only five signal-callers in school history to post back-to-back 2,000 yard seasons.

All-Purpose Performer...

- Torrey Smith proved to be one of the most explosive players in the country in 2009, finishing the year ranked sixth in the nation in all-purpose yards with a 182.7 yards-per-game average. The sophomore broke his own school record for single-season kickoff return yards with 1,309, which is also an ACC record. Smith took two of his returns all the way back for touchdowns, tying a school single-season mark and establishing himself as Maryland's career leader with three kickoff return TDs. But Smith wasn't dangerous only on special teams; he also posted team highs in receptions (61), receiving yards (824) and touchdown catches (5). The 61 receptions were the fifth most in a single-season in school history, while the 824 receiving yards were the sixth most. All in all, Smith finished the season with a school record 2,192 all-purpose yards, a mark that stands as the second most in ACC history.

Hartsfield Steps In...

- As just a redshirt freshman, Demetrius Hartsfield was a vital part of the Maryland linebacking corps that was one of the best units on the team. Hartsfield held down the starting position at "Will" linebacker for much of the season, missing two games with a broken wrist. He earned freshman All-ACC honors and ranked fifth on the team with 64 tackles. The freshman also provided one of the most exciting moments for the Terps all season, sacking Clemson quarterback Kyle Parker with under 1:00 remaining, forcing a fumble, which he recovered, to preserve a 24-21 win.

Ferrara Emerges...

- Nick Ferrara's emergence as a reliable special teams player couldn't have come at a better time for the Terps, who were without the services of All-ACC punter Travis Baltz for five games due to two injuries. Maryland also entered the preseason without a clear-cut No. 1 place-kicker, but Ferrara won the job just days before the season opener at California. He went on to earn second-team freshman All-America honors from Phil Steele Publications and was a freshman All-ACC pick by Sporting News and Rivals.com. On the year, Ferrara went 18 of 25 on field goals, including 7 of 10 on attempts of 40 yards or more. The freshman also served as the starting punter for the five games Baltz missed, handling kickoffs, place-kicking and punting duties in those games.

Chism Takes Over For Carroll...

- One of the biggest blows to the Terps in 2009 was the loss of No. 1 cornerback Nolan Carroll, who broke his leg in the second game of the year. But Carroll's departure led to the emergence of Cameron Chism, who filled in capably all year. A sophomore, Chism made his first start in the third game of the season against Middle Tennessee and came up big, making a career and game-high 12 tackles. Chism also intercepted two passes against the Blue Raiders, the first of his career. He finished the season with a team-leading four interceptions and was fourth on the team with 66 tackles.

Hand And Foot...

- While Turner was putting his name among the Maryland quarterback elites, Jamarr Robinson emerged onto the scene while Turner missed several games due to injury. The sophomore quarterback saw the first significant action of his career when coming on for an injured Turner in the NC State game. Robinson then made his first career start vs. Virginia Tech and had one of the best individual performances for the Terps all year, totaling 233 yards of offense, including 129 on the ground. That rushing total was the third-highest by a Maryland quarterback in school history behind Dennis O'Haras 139 in 1969 in Jack Scarbath's 132 in 1950. He followed that up with another solid performance at Florida State, going 20-for-27 for 213 yards and one touchdown pass, the first of his career. Robinson's versatility proved to be key, especially as Maryland operated with an inexperienced offensive line, and his ability to make plays with his legs and his arm was a major asset for the Terps late in the year.

2009 GAME RECAPS

	Game 1
#12 California	52
Maryland	13

Sept. 5, 2009

BERKELEY, Calif. - Da'Rel Scott ran for 90 yards, including a 39-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter, while Chris Turner threw for 167 yards as No. 12 California beat Maryland in the season opener for both teams.

Scott went 39 yards for the Terrapins' touchdown with 14:21 remaining in the game.

Turner went 17-for-30 passing in making his 13th consecutive start at quarterback for Maryland.

Adrian Cannon led the Terrapins with five catches for 30 yards.

California's offense was led by Heisman Trophy candidate Jahvid Best, who had 137 yards rushing on 10 carries and a pair of touchdowns. His first, a 73-yard scamper, came with 9:54 left in the first quarter.

Following a fumble on the ensuing kickoff, Best added a 2-yard score to put the Bears up 14-0.

Nick Ferrara, a true freshman who won the kicking job for Maryland, hit a pair of field goals to bring the Terps within 14-6 with 12:28 left in the first half.

The Bears scored 17 unanswered points, including a pair of touchdown passes from Kevin Riley, to take 31-6 halftime lead.

Riley hit on his third TD pass of the night with 9:53 left in the third quarter to build the Cal lead to 45-6 before Scott's touchdown for the Terrapins.

	Game 2
Maryland	38
James Madison	35 (ot)

Sept. 12, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Nick Ferrara kicked a 26-yard field goal in overtime, giving Maryland a win over James Madison.

Starting first in overtime, James Madison moved one yard in three plays before Dixon Wright was wide right on a 41-yard field goal try.

Maryland (1-1) then used two runs by Da'Rel Scott to move to the 13. Following two carries by quarterback Chris Turner, the second of which got the ball to the middle of the field, Ferrara connected.

Up 21-6 in the second quarter, the Terrapins yielded 22 straight points and trailed 28-21 with 13 minutes left. The comeback was fueled by Maryland turnovers: A fumbled punt and an interception that was returned 62 yards for a touchdown by Jon Williams.

The Terrapins pulled even on an 8-yard run by wide receiver Torrey Smith with 12:18 remaining. But JMU quarterback Drew Dudzik faked a handoff into the line, rolled left and broke free for a 70-yard run to give James Madison a 35-28 lead with 11:23 to go.

On the ensuing drive, the Terps faced a fourth-and-4 from the James Madison 47. Turner completed a 20-yard pass to Ronnie Tyler, then hit Adrian Cannon for a 27-yard touchdown with 5:09 remaining.

The Dukes outgained Maryland in the first half 217-151, but the Terrapins built a 21-14 lead behind Turner, who went 11-for-14 for 97 yards in the half, and Smith, who had four catches for 51 yards in addition to an 81-yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Smith finished with 229 all-purpose yards, including 127 yards in kickoff returns, 80 yards receiving on eight catches and 22 yards on a pair of rushes.

Turner finished the game with 236 yards on a 25-for-38 passing day with one touchdown. Scott was the Terps' leading rusher with 68 yards on 17 carries.

	Game 3
Middle Tennessee State	32
Maryland	31

Sept. 19, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Alan Gendreau made a 19-yard field goal as time expired and Middle Tennessee rallied for a victory over Maryland.

Dwight Dasher completed 27 of 44 passes for 324 yards and two touchdowns and ran for a score for the Blue Raiders (2-1). Dasher was 4-for-4 for 69 yards on the decisive drive - an eight-play, 73-yard march that began with 1:30 left after Maryland missed a 42-yard field goal attempt.

Da'Rel Scott rushed for 117 yards and a touchdown for the Terrapins. Maryland quarterback Chris Turner was 19-for-30 for 288 yards, and threw two touchdowns and an interception.

Maryland (1-2) took a 7-0 lead on Scott's 48-yard run with 6:46 remaining in the first quarter. But Middle Tennessee turned a couple of turnovers into touchdowns to take a 13-7 lead.

After the Terps had a 32-yard field goal blocked, Maryland's Travis Ivey recovered Dasher's fumble, setting up Davin Meggett's 1-yard touchdown run with 1:19 left in the first half.

On the first possession of the second half, Turner directed a five-play, 74-yard drive that was capped by a 37-yard pass to an open Torrey Smith down the left sideline for Maryland. But Middle Tennessee cut the lead to 21-20 with 6:25 left in the quarter on a 6-yard TD run by Desmond Gee.

Middle Tennessee took a 23-21 lead on a 27-yard field goal by Gendreau with 52 seconds remaining in the third quarter after a video replay review wiped away an apparent 11-yard touchdown pass.

Early in the fourth quarter, Turner found Smith, who had a career-high 287 all-purpose yards, for a 64-yard touchdown and a 28-23 Maryland lead. Middle Tennessee answered when Dasher threw a 32-yard TD pass to Garrett Andrews on fourth down with 9:04 left for a 29-28 lead.

Ferrara kicked a 42-yard field goal with 6:14 left to give Maryland its last lead.

	Game 4
Rutgers	35
Maryland	13

Sept. 26, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Maryland got a solid defensive performance, but was unable to overcome miscues in a loss to Rutgers.

It was the third straight win for Rutgers (3-1) which extended a slim 20-13 lead with touchdown runs by Joe Martinek of 29 and 61 yards in the final five minutes of the game.

On the first play from scrimmage, Rutgers linebacker Antonio Lowery picked off a Chris Turner pass in the flat and took it 36 yards into the end zone.

Down 13-10 in the third quarter, Rutgers took over at the Maryland 17 after an interception by Billy Anderson. Although the drive was extended when the Terrapins were called for pass interference on third-and-11, Jordan Brooks was stuffed by Alex Wujciak on fourth down from the 1.

But Rutgers answered when Turner fumbled in the end zone when hit by blitzing safety Joe Lefeged, and George Johnson smothered the ball with 2:59 left in the quarter.

Minutes later, a fumble by Terps running back Da'Rel Scott was recovered by Rutgers on the Maryland 41, setting up a field goal for a 20-13 lead.

Martinek capped a three-play drive with a 29-yard touchdown run to clinch it was 4:53 left.

After Lowery's interception return, Turner immediately completed a 45-yard pass to Torrey Smith to set up a field goal. Smith had four receptions for 112 yards and totaled 232 all-purpose yards.

It was 10-3 before Maryland moved 68 yards in three plays - a 40-yard completion to Smith, a 4-yard run and a 24-yard touchdown pass from Turner to LaQuan Williams.

The Terps allowed just 249 yards of total offense to Rutgers, their best effort since Wake Forest had 219 last season.

	Game 5
Maryland	24
Clemson	21

Oct. 3, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Chris Turner passed for two touchdowns and Maryland overcame two late missed field goals by Clemson in a 24-21 win.

The win snapped a two-game losing streak by the Terps (2-3, 1-0 Atlantic Coast Conference), who snuffed out the Tigers' final drive at the 28 with a sack and fumble recovery by Demetrius Hartsfield with 27 seconds to play.

Clemson (2-2, 0-2) cut the score to 24-21 with 4:11 left in the third quarter after C.J. Spiller scored on a 92-yard kickoff return and a 2-point conversion pass from Kyle Parker to Michael Palmer.

Maryland was held to 28 yards and a single first down in the first quarter as Clemson built a 10-0 lead. But the Terps rallied with 17 points in the second quarter to pull ahead.

Turner completed 19 of 26 passes for 215 yards and had scoring tosses of 29 yards to Torrey Smith and 4 yards to Ronnie Tyler. The pass to Tyler put Maryland ahead 17-13 with 35 seconds left in the first half.

Kyle Parker was 20-for-37 passing for 180 yards and Spiller rushed for 72 yards for the Tigers, who were outgained 284-274.

Smith, who caught three passes for 64 yards, became the first player in NCAA FBS to go over 1,000 all-purpose yards this season.

He had 174 all-purpose yards on the day.

Maryland's go-ahead drive covered 81 yards with Turner completing 5 of 5 passes for 49 yards and running the ball four times for 27 yards. The Terps closed the half with an interception by Jamari McCullough at the goal line.

Maryland punter Nick Ferrara had a big day, as well. He was forced to handle the punting duties due to an injury, averaging 43.2 yards on eight punts. He had punts of 61 and 53 yards in the first half.

He also had a career-long 43-yard field goal early in the second quarter to get the Terps on the scoreboard.

	Game 6
Wake Forest	42
Maryland	32

Oct. 10, 2009

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. - Chris Turner threw for 307 yards and tied a career-best with three touchdowns as Maryland got its offense untracked in the second half during a 42-32 loss at Wake Forest.

Turner, a senior, hit the 300-yard mark for the first time since last season's game at Boston College. He finished with a pair of scoring passes to Adrian Cannon and another to Torrey Smith, who finished with a career-high 10 receptions for the Terrapins.

Riley Skinner threw for 360 yards and a career-high four touchdowns, shattering the Wake Forest record for career passing yards.

Chris Givens caught five passes for 116 yards and two scores for the Demon Deacons (4-2, 2-1 Atlantic Coast Conference), who moved into first place in the Atlantic Division.

Wake Forest scored touchdowns on its first five possessions in building a 35-10 halftime lead. Skinner went over 8,000 yards passing in the second quarter to move past Brian Kuklick. A week earlier he broke Kuklick's career touchdown mark.

Turner was 24-of-44 passing for Maryland (2-4, 1-1), playing only its second road game of the season. Davin Meggett, filling in for injured running back Da'Rel Scott, had 21 yards on six carries, including a 1-yard touchdown run on a fourth-down play in the first quarter.

Turner's 4-yard touchdown pass to Smith with 1:37 left cut the lead to 10, but Wake Forest recovered the onside kick and ran out the clock.

Josh Adams rumbled 48 yards for a touchdown on the opening possession with the aid of a crushing downfield block by Mike Rinfrette.

Skinner threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Marshall Williams, a 32-yarder to Givens and 20-yard TD to Andrew Parker as Wake Forest took control.

It was Wake Forest's 16th win in 58 meetings against Maryland, which won 26-0 last year.

2010 PRESEASON NOTES

	Game 7
Virginia	20
Maryland	9

Oct. 17, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Despite a solid defensive effort, Maryland was upended by Virginia on Homecoming in a cold, steady rain.

The Terps held a 9-6 late in the third quarter, but defensive end Nate Collins scored on a 32-yard interception return for the Cavaliers (3-3, 2-0 Atlantic Coast Conference).

After Robert Randolph kicked a 31-yard field goal, linebacker Darren Childs deflected a pass by Maryland quarterback Chris Turner. The 290-pound Collins latched onto the ball, broke to his left and took it down the sideline into the end zone.

Maryland tried to mount a comeback, but the Terps missed field goal tries of 44 and 37 yards in the fourth quarter. Then, after Turner threw an incomplete pass on fourth-and-17 from the Maryland 2, Rashawn Jackson scored for Virginia with 1:43 left.

Virginia played the fourth quarter without quarterback Jameel Sewell, who left with an undisclosed injury. The Cavaliers finished with 67 yards rushing, the first time in 16 games since 1957 that Virginia beat Maryland when rushing for fewer than 100 yards.

The Terps (2-5, 1-2) had a season-high five sacks and surrendered just 201 total yards of offense to Virginia, the lowest output by a Maryland opponent since allowing 163 to Florida International in 2007. However, the defense was unable to make up for four turnovers by the offense.

Maryland led 6-3 at halftime after holding the Cavaliers to 12 yards on 15 plays in the second quarter.

	Game 8
Duke	17
Maryland	14

Oct. 24, 2009

DURHAM, N.C. -- Thaddeus Lewis threw for 371 yards and two touchdowns and Duke held off Maryland.

The Atlantic Coast Conference's leading passer was 30-of-43 with touchdowns covering 24 yards to Donovan Varnier and 1 yard to Danny Parker in his third straight 300-yard performance for the Blue Devils (4-3, 2-1).

Chris Turner was 16-for-23 for 182 yards with a 67-yard touchdown to Davin Meggett for the Terrapins (2-6, 1-3), and he moved past Boomer Esiason into second place on the school's career passing list.

The Terrapins gave themselves some chances in the fourth quarter to mount a comeback.

After forcing Lewis to fumble at the 2 and then forcing a punt with about 5 minutes left, the Terrapins gave it right back moments later when Turner's pass to Ronnie Tyler was intercepted by Vincent Rey.

Maryland forced another punt with just under 2 minutes left, but the Terps fumbled the catch, Brandon King recovered and the Blue Devils ran out the clock.

Both teams kept the ball in the air despite rainy conditions.

Yet Duke seemed to have taken complete control with Lewis' second touchdown pass—a play-action flip to Parker that made it 17-6 with about 5 1/2 minutes left in the third and came after a 44-yard down-the-sideline heave to Connor Vernon.

The Terrapins responded moments later. Turner, who was sacked just once, dumped off a swing pass to Meggett, and he cut back to the left, dashed down the sideline and ran through a tackler at the goal line to make it a four-point game.

Maryland's Ben Pooler, subbing for an injured Demetrius Hartsfield, had a game- and career-high 13 tackles, including one sack. Alex Wujciak had 11 stops and Cameron Chism intercepted Lewis and had 10 tackles.

	Game 9
NC State	38
Maryland	31

Nov. 7, 2009

RALEIGH, N.C. - Russell Wilson threw three touchdowns and ran for another, and North Carolina State held off Maryland.

The Terps, playing without starting quarterback Chris Turner for more than half the game, rallied from 10-point deficits twice in the second half, but were unable to get the tying touchdown in the final minute.

NC State was forced to turn the ball over on downs at the Maryland 31 with 0:59 left in the game.

Backup quarterback Jamarr Robinson had scrambles of 11 and 19 yards to move the ball into NC State territory, but defensive end Michael Lemon sacked the sophomore and forced an incompletion on the final play of the game.

Wilson was 25-for-38 for 343 yards and the Wolfpack (4-5, 1-4) made just enough plays to secure the win. Both teams combined for 752 total yards.

Wilson overcame a career-worst three interceptions with touchdown tosses of 17 yards to George Bryan, 35 yards to Donald Bowens and 18 yard to Darrell Davis. Wilson and Jamelle Eugene each had 2-yard scoring runs.

Maryland's Torrey Smith returned a kickoff 82 yards for a touchdown, the school-record third of his career. Smith also had a game-high eight receptions for 64 yards and posted 268 all-purpose yards, the second-highest total of his career.

Smith also eclipsed his own ACC single-season kickoff return yards record with a career-best 204 yards on six returns. He had 1,089 last season and has 1,113 this year.

Alex Wujciak returned an interception 70 yards for a score, while Davin Meggett and Chris Turner had 1-yard TD runs for Maryland (2-7, 1-4).

Nick Ferrara's 31-yard field goal pulled the Terps within seven with 4:56 remaining after a penalty wiped out an apparent 23-yard TD run by Meggett.

Game 10 #20 Virginia Tech 36 Maryland 9

Nov. 14, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Sophomore quarterback Jamarr Robinson made his first career start for Maryland, but his 129 rushing yards and 104 passing yards weren't enough to overcome No. 20 Virginia Tech on Saturday.

Tyrod Taylor threw for 268 yards and a career-high three touchdowns, and the Hokies downed Maryland.

Ryan Williams ran for 126 yards - his seventh 100-yard game of the season - and scored his 12th touchdown, a single-season record for a Virginia Tech freshman.

Taylor threw each of his TD passes in the first half and the junior finished 13 for 23 and also ran for 81 yards on eight carries.

Robinson, starting in place of an injured Chris Turner, became the first Maryland QB to rush for over 100 yards in eight years (Shaun Hill - 11 rushes for 105 yards vs. Duke, Oct. 20, 2001).

Kick returner/wide receiver Torrey Smith had four catches for 55 yards and set a single-season record for all-purpose yards, eclipsing the mark of 1,840 held by LaMont Jordan.

The Hokies took the opening kickoff and promptly moved 71 yards in 10 plays to take a 7-0 lead. Williams scored on a 1-yard run immediately after a 30-yard completion to Jarrett Boykin.

Tech made it 14-0 when Andre Smith caught a 3-yard touchdown pass to cap a 72-yard drive. Taylor then answered a Maryland field goal with a 10-yard TD pass to Dyrrell Roberts.

Maryland (2-8, 1-5), which wore black and desert camouflage uniforms as a tribute to the Wounded Warriors Project, had chances to score touchdowns at the end of the first half and early in the third quarter, but couldn't cash in.

The Terps scored their lone touchdown when Jared Harrell recovered a Taylor fumble in the end zone with 11:25 remaining in the game.

Game 11 Florida State 29 Maryland 26

Nov. 21, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Freshman Lonnie Pryor ran for a pair of touchdowns, including a 1-yarder with 32 seconds left, and Florida State dealt Maryland a heart-breaking 29-26 loss.

The Terrapins were only a couple minutes away from their first win at Florida State, but the Seminoles made some key plays down the stretch.

Maryland's defense intercepted FSU quarterback E.J. Manuel three times, the last one by Cameron Chism with 2:57 left that seemed to shut the door on the Seminoles.

But holding a 26-22 lead, the Terps were unable to get a first down and freshman Greg Reid's 48-yard punt return gave the Seminoles the ball at the Maryland 44 with 1:35 left.

The Seminoles were out of timeouts, but scrambles of 15 and 20 yards by Manuel set up a first-and-goal from the 9. One play later Pryor went over right tackle for the go-ahead score.

The Terps had one last chance from their own 25, but quarterback Jamarr Robinson, impressive in his second career start, had just 25 seconds to drive the team into field-goal range, but the FSU defense held.

Maryland rallied twice in the final quarter. Robinson, who was 20 of 27 for 213 yards, hit Cannon on a 20-yard touchdown to give the Terps a 19-14 lead with 12:40 left in the game.

The Seminoles answered four plays later when Bert Reed scored on a 42-yard reverse.

Davin Meggett's second touchdown of the game, a 9-yard run with 4:29 remaining, gave the Terrapins a 26-22 lead.

Da'Rel Scott, back in the lineup after missing five weeks with a broken wrist, gave the Maryland running attack a spark. He had 83 yards on 19 carries and Meggett added 59 (on 13 carries) as the Terps posted a season-best 196 rushing yards.

Florida State led 14-6 late in the second quarter and looked to be on their way to a third TD when the game turned.

Wujciak picked off a Manuel pass and rambed 82 yards to set up a 1-yard touchdown run by Meggett as the Terrapins pulled within 14-13 seconds before the break.

Wujciak's pick was his second in three games and he set the Maryland single-season interception return yardage record (152) in the process (Joe Horning - 147 in 1951).

Game 12 Boston College 19 Maryland 17

Nov. 28, 2009

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Montel Harris ran for 142 yards and Dave Shinskie threw for 227 yards to lead Boston College to victory over Maryland.

Quarterbacks Chris Turner and Jamarr Robinson, both playing injured, combined for 216 yards in the air.

Shinskie threw a 66-yard touchdown pass and Steve Aponavicius kicked four field goals for Boston College (8-4, 5-3 Atlantic Coast Conference).

Aponavicius secured the victory with a 42-yard field goal with 3:59 left - the Eagles' only points of the second half.

Maryland (2-10, 1-7) used a 28-yard touchdown pass from Robinson to Torrey Smith to close the lead to 19-17 with 1:34 to go, but Boston College recovered the onside kick.

Aponavicius kicked three field goals in the first half, including two in the final 4 minutes, to help Boston College take a 16-10 lead.

The Terps tried to mount a comeback in the second half behind Turner, who returned to action after missing the last two games with a knee injury.

Trailing 16-10 early in fourth quarter, he had the Terps in position to score the go-ahead touchdown. Turner completed 4 of 4 passes on the drive, but Davin Meggett was stuffed for no gain on a fourth-and-1 from the BC 37.

Turner, a senior playing his final college game along with 13 other Terps, directed a 66-yard drive on the opening possession of the game that produced a field goal.

But Turner, who completed 11 of 17 passes for 101 yards, was roughed up on the next two possessions and Robinson came in and played the rest of the first half.

The Eagles gained 119 yards in the first quarter in going up 10-3. After Shinskie and Colin Larmond hooked up on a third-and-17 for a 66-yard touchdown - BC's longest pass play of the season - Aponavicius kicked a field goal on BC's next drive.

Maryland pulled even behind Robinson, who went 4 for 4 for 50 yards in a march that ended with a 6-yard TD run by Da'Rel Scott.

Year-By-Year Results

Game-by-game results for every Maryland football season since 1892. Maryland was known as Maryland Agricultural College from 1892-1915, and as Maryland State College from 1916-1919. Maryland's conference affiliations: Atlantic Coast Conference since 1953, Southern Conference from 1921-51 (SC standings not available from 1921-32) and South Atlantic Intercollegiate Athletic Association in 1920.

Home games were played at Byrd Field or "Old" Byrd Stadium, across the street from the campus on Baltimore Ave., from 1923-1947 and again in 1949. Home games in 1948 were played at Griffith Stadium in Washington, D.C. Home games since 1950 have been played at Byrd Stadium on campus.

Home, road and neutral records are in parentheses (H, A, N). Maryland and opponent Associated Press rankings are in brackets – AP polls began in 1936. From 1961-1967, the Associated Press ranked only the nation's top 10 teams.

• — indicates conference games

^{HC} — indicates homecoming games
